EXCELL A. Historie,

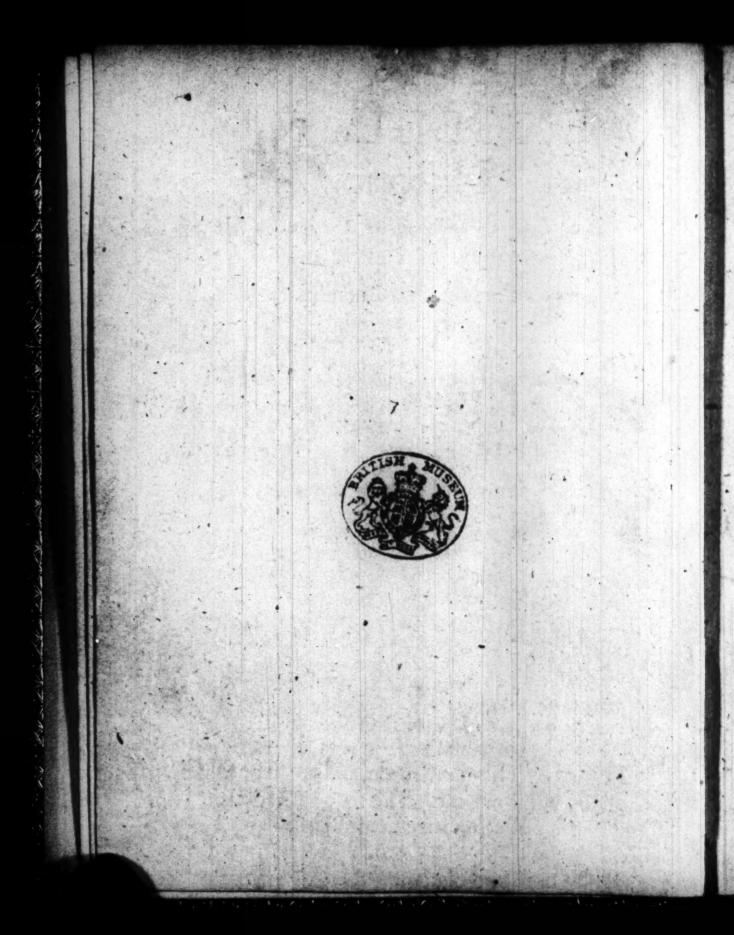

O F

Euryalus and Laurelia.

LONDON

Princed by Thomas Creede, and are to be folded by william Barley, at his thop in Gradone dreese, neare Leaden Hell.

To the courteous Reader.

bane his blossoms bitten with distanfull blasts, whereby they of tentimes prone but meer blights, and better had he fared with a friendly biting frost, to have had his new perpine Lemmes gently nipped, and at first detained within their buds, then per swaded with the pleasing applause of Prest breathing Zephyrus, fotimely, or tather untimely to diffly them to the full view, which expeled should bee injuried by the baleful breaths, violent and virulent blafts, proceeding from those freezing quarters, and their colde colleterals, Pardon me if I feare the Barker fince my rinde is you but your and tender: nevertheleffe, if I must needes meeto the curre, he shall beare my foft buzzing Leaves ener murmaring in his ears, An Egregia verolaudem. I know that unripe fruit gathered from the green branch; must naturally taste of their unsanorie sap : neverthelesse, thefe are not altogither to be refused, where daintie dishes are reserved afterwards to be served. And if this our first fernice, wherein are few things currant nonecurious, shal ferne to sharpen the flomacke for those cates which we may hereafter affoord I will not doubt to dedicate my paines poboly to your pleasures.

Your well-willer, W. B.

TO STATE OF THE LAND OF THE STATE OF

describerant spring therefore a friend of therefore a friend of therefore a friend because Muliphilus: I knowner whether I may obtains of you to much ley fore, as to thanks you, who have to abridged my ley-fore time; heretofore, with offering, I will not fay imposing, or importance, that also means for the your me containing the comple of Furyalus bis tome. My cofe might have been a canfato de gene request bearing, had not your request begins to be jour defert facts an exercife of your meaning for weather an orme weakened to with the viry radices of times, and confidently an unfufficient Hercules I was to you croke for great above I was more willing to lease transferred this tackets put fells.

being an appropriate Arlus mobe like marries, of persons moreflets one to the whichest finders were nester consequent. I as sequentfinally equivament forwards reason, distance force mate it both because the second of the seco dering his presentelle and presente to whose the medical and presente to whose the medical and presente to whose the medical and presente to present and homestie, formed and ring god as you hereto opposed his fingular courtes fie, have present to provide the field of the present of curtoston, I have help the latter to provide the court of curtoston, I have help the latter to provide the latter to be a failed to the latter to the lat and menting to mape it as leifage, but star I'm bough it was for a Scytting and a second and linelle but compiled by one, with Brook former, bred was All orthress monfler, and brong bothy in Burbardians a Diorny fun offering to Impiren Awathbelfe for for the fore wishing that as you were confer of my holders to regular be are part of my blame, I bear an swering your define, bear holders perhaps your delight, admit you to my first march, and final retrain in this field of fancie.

ILLVSTRISSIMO

HEROI CVM OMNI MILITARI VIRTVTE AC SCIENTIA PRAE.

cellentissimo, tum optimis literis ornatissimo No Carolo Blant, Domine Monioio Gulielmu Bramche, S. P. D.

Pemdessam hanc Acuse: Sibij de Furyali conciuis sui amore historiam, ex verustissimis eius manu-scriptii descriptam & decerptam, & vulgari stilo stolace indutam, nunquam (quod equidem audierim) ante hodieruu diem sub rypographi præsumissam, tuz amplissima dignitati (optimarum literatissime, & literatissimoru optime) hic affero, offeroq; Leue quidem & leuidense munus, tuisq; prorsus indignum oculis, tamen hoc vt facerem, tua tum in practeptorem nostrum (quem veremur & veneramur) singularis humaritas, tum in nos (hoc est gregem Wicchamicum) egregia illa immo regia liberalitas me admonuit, ecadmouit. Desiderium illud tibi gratificandi, quod in nostris omnium animis insitum est, quasi calcaria subiecit mihi in hoc cursu, & currentem impulit, et tua benignitas beneuolentiaq; quasi mulcentes Zephyri aspirantes, vela mea in hoc nauigio adimplendo portum placidissimum promittere, videntur. Quod autem ego tiro prorsus, demonitus in hoc scribendi genere et ot, quibus Minerua estimator, facilior, & selicior, hanc in me susciperem prouinciam, son ese measum virium opinione est, sed tux elementix considentia. Qua quidem nixus, tux (O literarum lumen, & literatorum comegorale intentium de implication interpel-duciti, qui abiectis de omillis grautorinucibus Se nugis operam impendere (ne dicare perdere) velim. Sed ignoless mili he offes-loriti, vol memer defendentem agnotieris. Siquidem alio-rum exemplarin his peccasis imitatus fum, quonum facta fi defensionem milii non præbeant, tamen meam quodamodo audaciam pollunt exculare. Quod enim (domine il-lultriffune) miz granitati amatorum excuum & existim por-rigo, vemale quidem precistum est.) quiz ab aplo Papa hu-iun fabulz autore est factitatum. Ainem enim hic noster qui poltes pontificalem dignitatem adeptus est Pius secundus audijt, voi octogessimum exatis annum artigerat hor ametorium optificulum composium, et duobus granismis vinis in patronnium commenduite a quotum arter militari alter lapientias laude climir vertous patria columna et sucimen habebatur in Et hoc in suis ipsus epissolis perspicere est; quarum altera sie incipit. Magnifico er generoso militi Dom. Gaspari slich, den, nant Casta Casara execusitisma syriarum Legas Cubrique captanes altera autem sie, Excellentissimo er dullissimo Martano Losso vitrissque invis interpreti cre. Itaque si (ve quibusdam videtur) res tuta fiet peccare autoribus illis, Per quos desendi crimina magna que ant, liceat mihi (vir honoratissime) aut ventam impetrare a te Minerus alumno chandimo, quod his in-concinnis vocibus obltrepo, & cantum his nugis patronum ad-hibeo, aut culpam in illum quem incitatus fum transferre. Quod autem decligare videor abeo studio & stadio, in quo mini affidid est currendum, omissique negotije, ins eptijs vacare, sciat rus prudentis succilius tantum tempo-in his tricis me impendere, quod ok optimi sepe factio tarunt. An non ipsim Appellem deposita egregia illa Veneria Veners pietura farpifirme leur manu & volanta peneca. cuchirbiens pingere folitumi accepianus. Idem milit per te (magnificentifirme domine) liceat. Quod autem ad dignitatem istius opusculi pertinet ; Francisca Florins hi in manus incidit, clarissime hisce verbis innuit. Home meum Librum non ideires edidi (inquit) ot Anza Siluio de duobres amantibus Euryalo Teutonico & Lucrefia, Senenfi detrabere Distar ant perpendant eine fantans venne

Sed Poetam nostrum ve hac etiam in re Poetam mendacij forfitan infimulet aliquis : abfit : & tamen bac, fi ficta, innoxia tantum mendaciola, & (deo volente) rifu rata. Pauca tamen si placeat autoris admittamus, & in tua tum tribunali agatur cansa. Net tamen silber ero ut ipse, mi Mariane, slagutarner Patra viennar inha. Dum liceat vera referre. Quis time tam vequant est po ministre velit, cam se possit vero ineri : in calce etiam bbri ad bunc modum Habes amoris exitum nec fiett, nec felicis, &e. Et alibi : Serio res asta est. Senis dum Sigismundus Imperator illic degeret, est excellentissime Galparis (si verum bisce auribm andini) Eureali amors operam dedisti, Propria ipsorum nomina subcicuit procul dubio noster Poeta, & hac altera imposuit ijs, vel supposuit potius, Ne clarissimis vtriusque familijs tam infignem dedecoris maculam, milla ztate eluendam imprimeret & in-vreret. Absit heros illustrissime, absit, ve ego ex iudicio imperitz plebeculz & vanillimis vulgi rumusculis stulte penderem : absit vt frequens Theatrum qui densis humeris, & suspensa aure ista biberent expeterem aut expectarem : mallem ega cum Antigenida, Tibibec & Musis: eris mihi ve clim Ciceroni, vam Cato pro centum millibus: ve Antimacho Poetæ, vinus Plato pro confertissimo andientiamo connenta. Ve Des mucrati : Vnus sapions pro multitudine. Te denique sufo fragante mihi, fim cum Horatio. Contentus interior parcie lelloribur: cumque, Epigramilla, Ne inder varie sculu placere. Elas igirur quales quales fint vere puerilium annorum primitias, portecta mann ét ex portectà fronte, (vir nobilitsime) accipias flagito, & cum permittant leria legas.

execute Library was blower of the Control of the Allend State of Dens opt, Max, dignitation tuam distissimo florentem & incolumem tucatur, & confernes (Honoratissimo Damine) & inter ancheres nirtutio nominisg, sui mo non falso confere.

The course of the second of th

La remilla de la Salunada la general de la colora del colora de la colora del colora del to me country makeline; at Antimocho I este, when I have prove the Den traction is a sufferior and contains contains to the Den traction of the contains the contains to the contains the c fragante red Jam cusa Florario.

The excellent Historie of Euryalm and Lucrefia.

Moright the Cities of Hetropia, the famous Sens had no superiour in the raigne of the Emperous Significants of the Townswere hand-fome, her Towers hand with gallant house, her from heart in the family has been been in the family her the control of the family has been been in the family her the control of the control of sensy Manlions a wherein I conclude the confect the Emperous simolic actional shock in the fance. It for amed that has formaine recurring from Saint Market Has peached his Pallacemon far shence fitter chand beholde his frap, which free ercounted has pidake mer four Has dies, in mentilitie not unlike; in peace expirally, in gargeous attrestife giarching the column appropriate failty which Princely Paterness the column format farence was fire by an increase them, you might have failty which he proven and fired Goddelfestly, each mine gaz 68 cm i has a land to the Goddelfestly cach mine gaz 68 cm i has a land to the shape bear burn threat ambits for threat contents the high the relationship in the failty was failt to fail year for the high the mine failty of the high th

144

Camp of Venus he had long fince deferred his trunphion the token of dismission greatly delighting Hinlete with the pleasaunt farmonic proceeding from Ladies lippes, especially deliting to sume his withered felfe in the rayes of her lookes, because in inspresentations ever with to faire unoble in ender frib let worth ein thirt & peare difinounced himfolic from the free le incewas he concept, the senter of a hypothesis of the context of t congrant falturations. Attning towards intended to the factor of the falter of the falter to be defelled to the falturation of the falter of the falturation of the f 等海湖 "国门建筑设备"。 of thereif smong is a home the was torted; and as mong it whom the finned as an orient peace opposed to pebles; or combining olden beames obleuring the twinckling there is her defent by nature lineally from the constitution in the contents of good narrane, continumated in her the image of dignitie. If None early looked on her but toued here none louted; that did nor wood her, only himbles wante transhore hackes as fact, to be no mealing by his has of gold, to be made a goodly neaded ham bler themselves with here come by herefore, and confequently by his has of gold, to be made a goodly neaded ham bler themselves will and herigolden witerest treffer where which here come by headshounded. Were infolded with which and onches, with diamonals and they olices, lining forms little invitefic to cless impossiff the real ham buolety adoring her rempte; being all prently frilled; criped and inforces in her big is orched whealin no writes the uppeared, Capid had pisced his house howe; the willian has return eye because his house howe; the wilded has returned by the neare opposition of herblack beautiful relief to the series of her black beautiful has return eye because and the black by the neare opposition of herblack beautiful relief to the heart fail in the or in the black of herblack beautiful relief. makers of what had been induced in the control of t Il men practed of her, at praised hir:

first garcel they as the branchily better of herbeweited them as the excellencing bar betterly when victorial death of the excellencing bar betterly when victorial death in paising georgiaces, when we are better their paising georgiaces, when the action the paising georgiaces, when the test in his pacinime of bar fitte hebaticor when their winching of hereyes did so dimme their tester whether yould name reading here. Let his companie, we although the whole georgianism mathers, and glood mathers, whole honours upon yearous were investible administs to win the fattour of so gallanta Danders was Lawrelle, and he riceastic heing girled with his amecous glounces, began to feel the first fine of a Cupidian server; and he riceastic heing girled with his amecous glounces, began to feel the first fine of a Cupidian server; and he riceastic heing girled with his amecous glounces, began to feel the first fine of a Cupidian server; and he riceastic him with a first mine of the first fine of a Cupidian server; and he remains and the at one forwarding to be fifther every training which bortaine faired impulsion of her beauties and the atom with a likenge has more fight; yearled home builds, builded his rare perforage which years a new natures worken purposes in the fifther every four fifther in filler; which so then Courtiers rayled borners, in shrinks to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine, much left purgoson nowheir benders and an action begges, which as yet least no pulpharine to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine to their begges, which as yet least no pulpharine.

palanggood Acadelli nothing her lacked shakmare be sobe withed for pathing her lacked shakmare be liked. Lexepothis libertle, which was now abide ged, her being limed like a little bird; and limited in the firm of her beautift. The transmited red her to have been always to that being strugbackle bureter, her might fully comemplate her angelical feature. Neither was his love cleane loft, but that which was moltimizations, of many brine gallants, home pleased. pleased Encreased by St. closely conceased they there have a content of the conceased they there have, a har when content of the conceased they there have, sharpened they there have, sharpened they there have, sharpened they are the conceased they there have, sharpened to be conceased to the conceased they there have a sharpened to be conceased to the conceased they there have a sharpened to be conceased to the conceased they there have a sharpened to the conceased to the conce by Scalofely concealed they their flame, sharphen either did love; meither fulpefter themsettle to be leaved. By this time, then organized broke official with themshele Lotler nominets, who string of the entire their hearts: Livers file carrying with meaning parced their hearts: Livers file carrying with meaning themself, and in departing the means of the content of attained her houle: where (se people) the persons delire drink which is milk thangement) the content her folicary chamber, lecking for solve, buttoment sitting notight but formed king for solve, but loans and her folicary chamber, lecking for solve, but loans her more like to be fining led; not folicary the her lefte on her bedde; when her leves but it into a foundance of tentes small ing avoilable christiliamers on her want yet beckers, and so the caremained for a pacing in an extra site, which as length outercome; the buttle on of file localinto faving after this manner. And in truth (quods shoe) sy hat is sirry Meadant it in my store denin Carlo de Colavilla. tenves cumbatomo discretalivaphalada; il beno in hirdalances la sengalance il des ribritalismes la sengalance di an bant, e platoni e per cit policiton. Les values contani lespa cit with remes 10 beservitorime andienne milli veiledome to bedleature burt itte fillafante armo de fertale action contraction valendment in male anneautiful and for the property of the propert concentrate of the control of the co Saightoughe, intertenerune, yeartohan wasemikingus. He kopae ambiooli (b women sakoteriogeani instings Saight) Cali kafasabo sanadamenyusatienomean vidioach mitton i mill soldinip (Viene preato decad furle of m) parleffetetalt. I svino may teeks lippari coo altodo atobrija to altore i May heendwakuldus, do fic mee shifed and the from mer defiled i blo me where can no flich currift disposition lightour winder to count your a counternaunce. What why is not permittous poylon of dranke out a frame eil pottes. Dooth not the greatest serpent hake water greeness Dooth not the greatest serpent hake water greeness that fill that ener thining sepatches to the bodes at the filler maned through panther in without mereic are sweet breathing panther but a denouring passach; and minetowne lekels ich are the fillest. I but faith her felt filtership her felt fill at the faith her felt fillest in the file of the fillest and minetowne lekels ich are the faith. I but faith her felt filt firesh in without mercie othe liveete breathing parties number addrouring patricks and minicown electricity that the fairest are the fillest. I but faith herself listest in his faire face, rioyalelesia his leakers multiple. I feare shadowers, and make doubtes which beare to share seen. He writtbefore plight his world, and gracing his hard in pledge of his heap to he will swearch and then not sweare. Thus a second beathful elay land put these fittolous seares to fill he attended him soully lookes can as well-looke him fall was first allimed faire, and caustice him a stoucher invited him soully lookes can as well-looke him fall was first allimed faire. I am mee him with a much been shall, been will him in one him with a much been shall, been will him in order pale of mine at her ideas who the him in order to mine at her ideas who him her for the lookers in section of the state of the stat curilh, on the line gle a my amed my fame To be the activities in the conference of the shape from the first of nor heaten Dullaides they are whome Same forbids Bremeiner fint butte mached toghar which many take each ancipped that knot Mela Jilland, Mela Jilla And you multimately so if the third process in the spine of the spine acted to accommendation will contract to the Ohe de la contrata del contrata de la contrata de la contrata del contrata de la contrata del contrata de la contrata de la contrata del contrata de la contrata del contrata del contrata de la contrata de la contrata del con The state of the literacy participation of the state of t Totale State die les les des des les des le destruction of the second second ig the value of Empalue and Lucrefia to beturned that way which he trotted. Wherefore finiling on him whom hee accounted not his friend but fellow (as Octanianse did fometimes of Maczaur) Euryalus (quoth he) for pitic pinch not the poores Gentlewoman in such wife, then taking off his bonnet concred the eyes of Engalus therewith, faying: Nay faith thou thalt fee thy Saint, let mine eyes only contemplate this spectacle. But Euryalus straining agentle laughter, the better to marke his thoughts which in his countenance had almost pleaded guiltion Corres it was well aimed Cefer (faidhe) : now by mine hat you had like to have hit the pailcon the head, but in much, fince I am cleare from all fuch action dearethelescheryour cunious suspicion. Yes nomerces this I pray you, lest the people bedrawen heereby to deeme amiffe, and through flaunder wrong the Gentlewoman yndeferuedly i with this lightwas Lucresios wrapped and ravished, that the almondend costs within her obscame a deadly cau-field in to much shares the was middle with thame. lowar Theoreadic to call away Themefaltnelle: Of force now Are multioftenher own flame, and world marter to her owne marriedome, All this verefierb thele faying so which are as lurgas looth. The femile beste greatest port inhonous, bane of tentimes least portion of henosties of odestie dweller bin meane margions: and cha-Bitie contenteth her felfe with bafe certages. Luxurylur. bethin lefthologings has shepare constituent, who are sontensors babitan Solmietie hateth banebeie bonfein Royal imbredesteriches & Cupicis companion to coneton faciles Pere verbus and veris great pomers are never cape funtes à Kerath and wantonnesse, lucar and lascinionsnesse, are alwates maies companions. By this time was Euryales out of her fight, but not out of her heart : where thee felta fea of conflicts, and was violently carried away with the wane. I hen I perceine (quoth the) it books not to fine, or hop against the hill. Sorrewesternealed, are the more force, and greefs fmothered, if they bind more force, and greefs fmothered, if they bind more force and greefs fmothered, if they bind more force covered, to break. Fest army force landed, are force covered, to varies discovered, are forcess as fed. And if my passions wer imparted to some faithful friend, doubtle fiether pangs would be abased, if not about the man impersons temperate beautiful. Phicke up think heart Duresto, Mostopause calme in an impersons temperate counsel to more acceptable to the Marmer, then the counsel of compart of a friend to a diffressed mans malladie. Thus she resolved, away-ting the returns of Biryalan, who was gone only to prove the calment his fallace in both the Orange and the provention of the fallace in the counsel has the consequent. guard Cafarto his Pallace: whom when the perceit ned in returning to approach, calling vote heran old and faithfull fernant of hers named Sofia, and beeause for looth he was of the same country with Enrialis, trusting more to the goodnesse of his nation, then to his approved nature, the boorded him after this maner. Solisa word or two: feel thou this galant troupe of French ment or didft thou ever behold braner light? feethere crifped & curled hairest fee the lether lively lockes, and lively lookes is lee with what maiefticall decemnelle, and decem maieftie, they manage their proud palfraies? Meremeacocks are these base Tuscanes, compared with their dinine perionages: twile happie had bene mine hap, twile fortunatemy felicitie, had fortune bleffed my bed in making one of thele my bride: but doff thou know any of them? Many answered he: what thy country of Euryalus and Incresis man Euryalus I none better (quoth he) and what of him I pray you? then Lucreful: your ever faithfull service awarrants me of your silence, & I doubt not but you wilbe as fecret as my fecond felf. Since therfore I shal assoone leave to live as to love him: since I can neither get or forget him: fince no medicine may mitigate my malady, but the spear that first pierced me:make speed to the gentlema, say Houre him, and long to speak with him: and for thy reward sosia. Heere Sesia bursting off her conclusion, sell into these exclamations. O monfrous & vncouth sound which I hear! do I dream, or are your sences Madam deprived of their functions? O God! is this true? O Livold that either I had no cares to receive fuch mufick, or you no hant to conceive fuch milchief: what that I shuld attempt such treachery? that I shuld betray my Lord & maister? that I shuld be faithlesseto him now, at the last, vnto who I have bin ever faithfull I aborred treason in my youth, & shall in mine age imbrace vntruth, rather Othou gaze and grace of this citie, roote out this rage out of thy thoughts, follow not thy furie, fofter not thy folly. V Vithfland lonesfirst forces, or he shall bane the foile: stad the first combat de win the conquest: stop the fountaine before it streameth: quench the parkes before they flame: heale the green mound of prenent the ulcer: bethat break not the twigge, hal not bend the tree. And moreover should Menelaus fee but a glimple of any fuch conspiracie, what punishment, nay what plague, would be doubt to inflict on vs ? Yea Solialaid Lacrelia, thy speeches are patheticallinough; were thereany footing for fear, where love is alreadie Lorde : If I buy that peniworth, I am resolute to suffer the penaltie. Ah thrife vnhappie Ladie aid he, how doth thy lunacie striue to leape, before it may looke ! wilt thou defame thy noble familie with spor of infamic? will thou of all thy stocke bee tearmed a strumper I thou of all thy progenie, be prodigat of thine honeflier I but wherby may ir bedeler ibed quoth Enerelia? Wherby may it not, answered sofia. may any finne be cancelled? will northy mother espicit? will northine husband finde it out? will not thine handmaids betray thee? How focuer, he that feeth all things, must needs perceive it : confider above all this, the torment of a conference foule: "Which | hiners at enery (badow, and waffrighted with the leaft fluw of winde: which stourget ber felf with when the least survey winde: which stonged the she bitter remembrance of her filthis fact, and cannot differ the fact of the wind her owne heynous deed, whilesse published and proclaimed by her owne mouth: well she may flie, but carrying the booke in her throat, and the deadly shaft in her dreadfull side. Raigne backe therefore in time your vibrideled furie, and mollishe your hardness & hardie affective. tions, with the rules of reason. But thou preachest impossibilities answered Lucrefia. I appropriethy wife perswalions, but must practile my worse intremions. Hee my headlong downfall, yet perforce must I follow my follie: so Cupid hash commanded, And needs must be go, whom the dinel drineth. Whetfore if thou pitiest my miseries, the miseries of thy wretched mistresse, I pray thee to execute my message. Here soft groning from the bottome of his ficart, faid; Ener by these hourie haires of mine; which relemble the plumes of filuer fwarmes, and by the faithfull Temice which I have performed to you theferwise thirde winters, I on my knees beleech work from resolute to suffer they et aire. At their

you, to castrate your felt of the Anticione, as breed defects in chasticle. Yet at the real chastic to break your fixer for, They are half? when; who are willing to be healed. To chis teplied Lucresia: Well style, as yet modefile is not quite fled the field menther is the eye of wiledomecleane bleared, with affections thy compatie and card finally tilde my wearie barks from hiffering wracke on their infamous rockes; and so preferre mine honor. I am determined to fly to gen-Le death sinctuarie Force must be foiled with vio-lence, Se with an hopeft death in aft least off the roote of my difficultie. In perceiving the cause, I wil pre-tient the confeducat soft at this her madicille amazed: Ah madame (quoth he) this course is little lesse tirfed then the former, wilful death is not to be defired, but wilfull defites are to be monified. I have determined answered the, and none shall determe from myresolution. The wife of Callaring having loft her chaffitie, beeing the lewell, whole beeing, maintained her bliffe, and whole being not, brited her bale, revenged the loffe thereof on her proper person. And may not I with more licence doe the perion. And may not I with more licence doe the like, before I have made my felfe not woonline to live? Yes, I may and will; there are many water to the faire Etilian fields, by fword, by halter by head long downfall, and if the felectic displeadant, attake my way by water. Since I cannot live with credite, I will die with honour: I have faid, and will allaie it. They entened bee detained from death, who are resolvered die: for Partial daughter to Cath, and wife to Briefs, being prevented of instruments where with these might have wrought her ends, is faid to with these might have wrought her ends.

(quoth socia) lith I can neither raile the liege of rage from your heart, nor race out the memorie of Em ryalus from your breft, we must prefer your life before lollcofgood name: Tufh fame is fraile and fragale, yea good men of ten bane their credit cract, when the wicked have theirs wacrazed: Wherfore I will folicite Euryalus, and if my cap be not made of black sheeps wooll you hall not faile in your futer this promifed Sofia, and departed, feeding her lickly minde with Camelions foode, which is aire: but never meaning to profecute his promise. Onely his determination was, to fit her fancie with faire words, til either sime which affwagethall forcower, might mitigate her malladie, or Cafars departure, toguher with Euryalus, might pronounce an impossibilitie to her purpose: and to the ende he might prettent her despetate refolintion, of the fained to have had conference with Euryalus, and perswaded her that the Gendemans loue was correspondent to her liking, who only (as hee faid) watched for a cleare coaft, that hee might make for Bevenentum, the happie Islande of their hopes. But now let vs return vnto him indeed, who notall this while freezed I warrant you; for neither could heetakerest by night, or repast, by day, still lone like a deadly poylon, or a well theued Capcaine, made rowardes his heart, and gave onfet on the Arongest Fourestes: firing all passages with ficriepalsions, and menacing wrackeand ruineto the principalls; by realen whereof, teares would often distill from his cies, and smoakie vapours fpring vp from his smouldring heart, vntil at length hee fell into realoning with timbelle after this ma-

Thrife happie are they that receive dubble interest in their loves: but I feare me, O haplefle Eurya-lus, thou shalt never live by the losse: I have long inough lifted my wearie armes against the streame, and spurned against the pricke: but all in vaine:

Is not the River rougher for his obstacles? the Colte when hee is raigned becommeth flubborner, the Tourch with a flawe of winde encreafeth his flame, and Fire suppressed, becomes more furious.

Then strike saile Euryalus, for thy Barke isateadie boorded: thou art not made of marble, thou hat not coruill, but a carnall heart: and all natures woodkes doo warne thee to stoupe will Cupit doo but once strike is a sum of sime if world shows

Doo not the Lions, Stagges, and Bulles, oft battaile for their females? Who knowes not how Woolues doo wander and teare each other, for their defired mates! Tea, but this makes no lapelas gie Euryalus for the purpose! they are beafes, thank a map: they ruled by rage, thou by reason. But what if men can minister thee examples of the like, as the Poet Virgill who ventured his necketo enjoy his Mistresser And sociates a Philosopher, suffered Xantippe both to ride and decide him, shee putting a masse into his mouth, and spurres to his sides: neither this Buryalus, may be a desence for thine offence: Pres must not looke what men dot, but what men ought to doo! It is sill going to hell; though with a thousande sompanions. Yet Hercules, orde considerances

the mirror and terror of the world, became a feruant to Omphale, and calling away his iron chibbe, would spinneroplease tole. Men laythar Cafar is a god, and veriplikely it is lines heneper wanteth the company of formegoddelle: who it bee be praised therein; why should not be pardoned! Banish thou therefore those bugbeares which make thee timorous: for love hath no leafurero bectroubled with toyes, popleasure so meddlowith trifles. Hazardand then (halt have : spare not to speake and dispare not to specific : strappet be thy medenger to declare thy mind, and lecretaries of conceale thy meaning. Hereypon he kalled High his faithfull friend, to whome after hehad imanifelted the ty hole matter, healked counsell how he might comiey Letters to his le Anjurad an oldebearen fondier in fuch like fernice, produced for neward, a prescepar for that pripole, of whomshough her awas kalenders were long lince cancelled, inhermole which barethe badge of her aundicus datholik entrofesion, yet might you learne of herwherbenkers would be your evening farry or no shy hier hands therefore Emyalus prefented Lat -sinceres hwith thes health Lucrofia, and would crofin with thefe line bfollowing. bane femilied abeliance badit thou not alreadic had bods mine health & heart; the heart daineth to ferue thee: distainethou not to preserve the health; it is only the autactive varue that makes me thus yen tandes, they beaution bish can leth my bold actie. thou malubee as followrable as thy felfeart faire, shall neither bee contemned for a partaker of thy bountie, nor be condemned, pleading at the barre of thybeautic. I am noncofiliole who floupeste. richale, and praic on each purock, my life hath bin hitherso fincere, and fenere, not earftleddeby es pidelure and fuh inische prime of mygolden years; the live ere who lowner of order life, the prime role of my youth, which Thereoffer to my facted Sainty respect my kindresse, terect not my curreste. Be not like the Adamant which drowness the ship it had drawne voto inselfe: and is of so passing hardestib a stance; that it may be mollified only with plantabut let thine heart be rather all-among its the word in porteth apor & Harbonto mincheart almost theps wricked on the rockes of dispaires canfithen flaid him violently, who is votentarily the fermine it Ali let pittie distwades hee from stoh impietie, my de maund is but meaner only I pray the gratines par lev, graum mee accessero speake, if not incressero specie. How operativous histe (weete America) to sende moback du fewetines tomaining the lentence of either my bliffe orbate: I have female as durating the lentence of either my bliffe orbate: I have female as durating heart, with other inwelles motor faith price as thou shall prove my love precious: farewell, to whom to with enchance of weate. Thin element Encyclast of the lenge of old find auditing endersy obtain the lenge of old find auditing endersy obtain the lenge of old find auditing endersy obtain the lenge of t

The good old inbauding emiew of and, hyd lowed a troos pace with their letters, which were leaded with his ligner, who after the hall entred are netural his house, and prealed into Lucrestar companie, there en countred with the in this wife a Pardon gentle Midame my suderrelle and rathnesse, in approximate your presents without fatther licence or permission; in was procofining owner blind nesse, but my bufinesse finesse tequired such boldnesse and lines for time.

In the light of the boldnesse and lines for time.

hath graunted mee the fanour to finde you afone, ecept i pray you of thefe letters and leweltes , fent by the noblest and proppered Gallant of all Cafers traine, who enamoured with your feemely felfe, defires the hed may not lende his love to lotte. This womanas ichappened, was as odious as notorious, and not videtected to Livrelia, who detelted her life, and scarle dilgefled that Buryalas had made fuch a light hulwife his molfenger. Wherefore wiftly coking voon hers what diucit (quoth the) wisked wight as thou art, hath driven thee hither? thou hame of outstexe, flatinder to thing owne Gitties yea traytor to thine owne kinder darest the triceke against the light? then are woosse then Whole, who rurned hones Maniones lieutes in to hourest flewes: thee onely connected the beliefdens with her alpect, into lenceleffe flones: And bet-ter is a fenceleffe flone; then a fenfault of hameleffe firm-per in Institute increasing ago which hath we aned the from wantoinesse, cannot within thee from wickednesse; those furrowers in thy withered face, which thould have buried impuditious peculancy, haue furrowed pension pudency. Fo fifths carce cand with harde mine handes from dlying into thy face, were athor for defiling my fingers: but floode with my modely I wold hale the cowielike cles out of thine hareful head, and march you fro hencefont formaking hich markers; he read magore os damme, bernidging with thy leners and he Sthing kets naveather gine methy letters, that I may burn that good fuffer with that ther harobing them one of har hand, who gently teached them; tearing and trampling trampling on dem Ney thus thou delenrest thy less robeevied (quoth the) hadfithouthinehire : worthier I wille of a faggor then any fatiour : you will be packing? or you looke for some reward belike? a rope you shall: but stay vntill my Lord finde you here, and hee will reward your whoreship with a doubleducker to lop off your neck. These bugges words wold have affrited an honester woman then her felfe, but the like a wille foxe, well acquainted with Marrones quallities, vuered or rather murrered thefe like words to her felf. I promife you mill mee trulie, you are threwdly hurt : that which you would feeme to hate, you most delire to hatte: and turning towardes Lurrefia. Pardon Madame if I have midone, and recompense menor with Zy-dim his hire, who bringing home to Bees, was of them stung for his pains, but sithence it is your pleafure, I will depart, and take you headewhome you despite: heer suppon thee flang her selfe out of the despile: heereuppon shee stang her selfe out of the doores? and sading Buryalid; take heart at grace (quoch she) thou happie lower, the Gemlewortatt friendly and freely regreetesh thy good will, and will not be wanting I warrant thee, to the wish. I founde her sadde and sollitarie, but afterthy loue then loned glad and merrie, and had present respite permitted. The would have satisfied thy hants deline with her handle resolution, and required thy pledars with as great presents, which nevertheless sheet will shortly performe. What happenell, and have well the state state for see you wells. Thus the added the lam (Beldam I would have fail) hasted home, prouiding that she would then ce for they pay least in sight:

212 10 mm.

D 2 and oung rather to hide her head, then to have and yell abouted but Laurely immediate on the old womens departure, gathering every pareof Euralushis Epiffle togither, no otherwise then the goddes did fornetimes reconjoyne the difmembred corner of munhered Paleps, to Riedifpoigenery partro his properplace, peruled it athonfand times, and athousand times killed it, till at laft wrapping it in a white lilke fearfe, the game it a place amonest heriewels of price. But easily discipliered the she this of her terum selie, whom the perceied neuer to have follieited Euryaluein her fine: verieplad therefore that Euryalus had gitten the onletthe determined to counterbuffe him in this maner ! but for everte disearde Resident a knewcour of the deck of bandenices. Deralt thou Euryalus affects has in wills which thou maidt neuer effect in action? Trult me, thy leifure wilger thee more thanks, then hy labor in troubling me with fuch letters and letell shou thinke mee one of thole faiden who wenterbourwebs with their railer I and that ore altired meewith lucar ? Scarle awife Archer that facetes to wide, and well wonthis to loofe his luce. Hell thee Ampulas, lam neitherneed to of thy giles nongreedle of thy gold alongly picked beech a lo bada tale day filed west schooling by defiled worker dike them no better then an affected incneficinamenil favoured face. But I am deep in your n for ledding logood an hulwile as the fiction and diffe, on your attent to her your and charge was like your inductation would at heacting adamantasthe word lignification le Lucille and you not amorous, as shou corrupted the text, but in uincible as the right ctymologic thereof doth manifelt. In a word, Euryalus viethy luft as thou lift, on some other, Lamno morfell for your mouth. Yours never a white, Eurresia.

inspected, and much lesse expected so nipping an answers: but hecknew that sweetchroses grewer among it sharpest thornes, which whose were would purchase, must pricke his singers. I but (quoth lace) reasoning with himselfe, it is datingerous to wood her, I but she is more daintie to be worne: I but her hart is as hard as the diamond: I but it is as precious as the diamond: I but this stone will never yeeld to hummers stroake, I but it is dinted with often drops of raine: I but shee is disdainfull, and free sat mine abuse: I but she will be recalmed and reclaimed with a fit exercise: well shen, I need not feare that mellanger whom Lucresia hath deemed faithfull. Therefore the wrote as followeth.

forefetting penne to paper, he wrote as followeith.

Thing heard louely Lacrefue, that I spiters thunderbolts fear the fkinne, before they feare the coates and beholde thy worder (not whike to those fierie derres) have fealed mine heart, though not feated my fleinne. It is possible those fits that out of a frigorie font, should distill so bitter a freame I so poylonous a frice issue from so fragrant floures such breauy sentences proceede from so heavenly tippes i first thou are displeased, for that I sent a messenger whose intamie might be preindicial to thine thonor; why sweet and yet whende Energia, could life tailly anatomize her maners, being a finatinger's but suppose it were a Citizen.

es altowimpled, and capnot difeve pherlich ferets? Thou failt I may go feeke forte on ther, some common curtezan, for thou meanest not to be mercenary. No, no, Lucrefu, wer there any fuspitio of lightnesse inthy person, such impersection would be to faufrom giving aither omy love, or adding one feather to the highrofmy affection, that I shuld sooner loath thee, then loue thee: rather hate thee, then defire to haue thee: of all birdes, leannot brookethe wagtaile, I thinkeof bentiens of a fure yet fragit floure, whofehead being born up by the flately flathe of chaltitie, it seemest glorious in each mans light: like Phabus bis burnif be beames, which darle the fedfaft bebolders eyes, or rather these of muce essentials for and bolders eyes, or rather these of muce essentials for and will be the state of bolders will be the state of bolders will be the state eyes bolders and bolders at the state of bolders will be to be stated usuaght mooth, or mouthle to be worned any but to be trade and transled violer the sacretast of any but to be trade and transled violer the sacretast of allower increases the sacretast in like a subject of sacretast states are sacretast or like a subject opic on a painted beath. Thy vertice it is knowners, it is thy vertices hat such inclusional mentals. bath inchained me thy chafting which hath inchanted me thou are the load. It is of my life, o direct me with a prespectoral people and drown emprot in the despetit charybate of diddine; if would show had it with Coffeedy, an infightint of helmanul habitation of mine than, for there shoulds thou find fincere loue of thyselfe; showing in such abandance, that than would should a process for that he cannot me plead for my felf in thy prefence; for to codemne before judgement, is rathnes, not right: rigor without reason. Farwell Lucresia, from whose faire well, well may flowemy felicitie. By Euryalus, thine in bonds, whiles in lines boundes.

Thefeletters fealed, he fent with many iems as curioully wrought, as costly for their owne substance: which Lucrena receiving, proceeded yet farther to rappe her young man over the thumbes, and to nip him on the pate after this maner.

I received thy letters Euryalus, and red them, and rent them: neither doo I nowe complaine for the chargethou gauest on me by a strumpers help: I am comented to discharge thee of this errour ; and as thou vnwittingly diddeft commit the fault, I willingly remit thy tollie. Thou praiseft chaftitie as the onelie iemme which commenderh fraile bewrie, and yet thou practifest to robbe mine head of this diadem, mine heart of this diamond: leeft thoughy praises & practiles; what a confort and consent they make? like harpe & harrow I warrant you. My vertue forfooth hath enamored thee, my faire face hath fenredthee: rush Engalus, Honenotto walkeina fooles paradife, I am not fo vain, to vant of the bewty which I have not, & yet if thou louest me for mine honeftie, there is no cause why I shuldtake care for thyeure, fincethou louing me without my leaue, I am not willinglie causer of thy smart: shuld I imitate she foolish bird Charadrius, which in curing bkings euil in a diseased perso, killeth hirself & shuld I help thy hurt with mine own hazard?no Euryalus, manie have inarched at this bloom of my bewrie, but those

The excellent Historic es die refemink inspilion i famher thou de litelli har I would not drowne thee in dildaine, and cause thy death: God forbid that I should worke the death of any, but if thou multireedes die England die I pray thee, a channeable coler minuline affections, and feek northeon waskilfull Diagno frain my foot-leffe chafting. I needenot Coffind at quicke intight to discover a rangke ratte, when you finell full home, sware the direct were thou a swallow, were confident thou not approch my prefends vnespied; and if thou couldelt, certellethou frouldefinor: for fowilely dorh wily biffer warne me, who hopped his cares against the Symittonges; least perswated by their patherical nines, to lende them his eares, rocked in foundelf leep, they might drech in the biner wante yea well dooth Mahamets lefton fertiemee for lore; who refuled to vilite Miletim now called Ghio, leaft heeinflamed with luft, at the light of their blazing dames and flowring damolels, might be periwaded to thake handes with chaltine: thy levels I detaine not, fo much for any favour that lowe to thee, but because I fancie their rare fashions, sending thee a ring not inferiour in worth, and perhapper of fairer workmanship Farwell yours, whiles in the bounds of honeftie, Lucrefta

Euryalus reading and heeding these letters, was not a little glad that shee had detained his plodger, and tush (quoth he) when the chickens take means once, the Romanes account it for a good abode: to whom his friend Nisus, an old doggethat neuer deceited his marker, beleeneme Euryalus (quoth he) a womane nay, is like an horses neigh: I will owe inheciale of each posith the conclution each for hallmor needean(wered Euryalus, for I will bale it my felfe, now will I follow as close as I may, and newer cease of ficite whiles the iron is home, vn rit home his where the lake this replie was as for lake, hoping thou woulder rather livellow thewol nes The Raypuchead is composed of things Borly of dious and commodious, precious and pernicious, sweetent soviet the like is thy quill barries, from which dropped both bonnie and gall; a precious prespectation, and a deadlie poylon: thou three well me of my finne, and sieft & shall never goe to heawent what that thy paines be to ill repaired? and carefletioumerro procure my cure? My cure & Lucrefiel who are nearer and dearer voto methen either life or light? I fay my cirie, who is prefit of laie his hand, yea his necke, under thy foote to do theepleafure I who is readie to dure aniedaunger for thee his deareth headie to rantacke hell for thy taken Ah. ah, Lucefla, my forsethroba; thou titles mine batt, wheretou faielthat that never arrive athe harbour of my hopes: What Matt I not fait hot faite anie parley with thee? binsilh those words that not tipray thee for the lewerds, we those words, cut mercific quicke. If the weet forward thus to bee froward ullimethy leffeshou that norbecounted a man-flatery but a murtiereffe, thy word Lucreffe, may wound me worle then mine enemies (woord. But what curriffmelle half thou in flore to plague thine enemie, that purified thy friend with such discusses only this word that not, and lay I may not they show wounded throughouseful thine bilitie most the factors and the state of the factors and the factors of t

t Go

My pledges that they are anicway generally no there is heartly triouce; alaste abey were but simple, and these more stander which I how lend; while expect others from my Connacy is accelling that both in quanting and qualling soft which the fairest. I will impare your sty fairest also shy R ing which notice deponds from my singer, it energy which notice deponds from a single basis of the youth.

Skiltulie that success the titles of dedged from he shows. I knowing that the fifth y hearing basis is a little placked away. Search thereto make farmer the place of the

2111

should

mild not beedriven to diffaire. With itimoderate Realmed by maidente modeftie, finte Phaneprosand appropried his toyalite, fince I have for warded and awarded his walter, I will affood himater a feet the veni. For who knowes nor day this blowke which comes nowe to faite rothe fifty they to morrow checke in the lure: hautherfaide this is fixee wrote as heureafter for being the hadge of forlurne toue: colden narrowed -neThou haftsfollowedfast Larydus and kept me togerabay which makes me willing now aclegth ro obed, and veeldother orannell or baves, as binfigure of thy compiest alob the theedeproof whine nobilitie and courred a door it mariner consortive feamesinedibercrooked or crabbed; as foretty beauiey twithor, drat leaft I cannot lignifie how graione lets inally tight, ibut feafferante colde fature actic stances thou arewell mannered to yalis elimentired, and well mannored; the confenbof which vertues with partection in each of may con-tend he louist had the affect ion in all these call these premilles bitti ine utsale; and i amerchitic to meete the first puid was ; when lot reasons steppes in, and hoppesme running intercepting thy rathnelle, leaft too feetied might chile mine incepted courfe. I know belt diolongth of mine of the foete; that if an keepenio magne be mealure; if finds bomes into lone about if thou shift have free wanton; thou must never bet wanting long to fall from longing it chow cause has frair, longe with mean neither einer wildred fuller me to lear with theek pulcthou halt wome my love so tould plaicit is leave off a winner. I but he dangers which eine baue incurred by harbouring fittingers, thouls terre me from falling into the like damages. Mede conceined a good opinion of Julius by Mahotti at the left the was deceived a the prosince desitive alayen rell wreath intoken of his triumph: whentipre be rendredro by for recompense the Wilder Empland being the badge of forlorne love: golden were his spoiles obtained by her spelles, which not with landing herepaide with the council envelor drieds laned a legent with a Contow Laborinch thus, became kindly keli her de olive in de lari Mapor, Andiel or se like any ngrave full que l'exact aver y having divise too too deepe in proce Diseason to That and man nicemore examples were fact to be water the was gent avilore alieva villa de la constitución de la The second of th andaratia leighammonphy/ortulen whome-mid of ante-elokie metal and labellahetta kmatean, yh kane tout alectronetta fonelik, endetta baltata dieden headle ong montes cate spil tenasistana mane(ples) increase (effett le trade do appelle he luft antes eligent fractung e head from tour hije lon but toer will mane antena mitcher he headle, a his garlier familiangha i franzonian entectoris her a garlier familiangha i franzonian entectoris her a encost chaftie, bestrempted anarmi of entre whit lie want-vnderzichteite northin wide ga hvorgestitezzue in moren deile Amplier thempore fland symbol harr flandone of make reither offstom the top plical and infliciencie of slin floatest focuse and the but chooling rathers and bonor; thereby tenders with and will all the beareth not weter at with and will he mitteled and to fled on the lice of the large of othy fette, and dayfellene Courlings Datewell 20140 Converto Danis Contilet Bellinde Medicalisation way board out a wife then we care of he can like wanted the feet a vent before the parties of the matika helmaning hoard was ched or extinguished.

Salah Baran Caran 经自由证 的复数形形理学物质的 A CONTRACTOR

· 新国家的国际科技 2014年11月1日日 11月1日 11月 THE SELECTION SECURITY SECURIT 等了是是法国国际的所有的对象的争争和国 使用者的对外结果的 法自己的自己的动物 编译和结构 和中国中国共和国共和国共和国共和国共和国共和国 建设的第三次,并将 多种细胞性脑 The state of the s 次是数額與數學學 or extinguished.

brought foorth, liveth three hundrahi Therefore thinke me not vinworthie to be woome Euryalus, because lo long to be wood for, Liebs beleefe, bath commonly light love. The fifth Alphya, is engendered with a finall shower of raine, and therefore is coins red no meate for a velue mouth But would haffer is not fo foone cheapened, that which is deare of price, is deare on precious: year that caftle which beareth most brunt is desmedmoft mourth when it is feeled. Neither doo byer condificend to thy pericion, whieffe I were pulled thereto by thy promife that thou will be as faithful as thy protestations are faire? not like the lightning which flatherh, & prefendy fadeth: nor refembling the Rone withrier, which is role-colour, but lear ched with Pheba beams, becoming hichangeable but either imitating the iem Thracia, monthurning when thou are overwhelmed with roaning and raging difafters. On which premifies, thy promifes, placing and reposing the inconsucable foundation of my faithfull refer into a famakerthy perfor the prison of my heart and not only wonchiafe thee of lomegrafis of graum, but that thou maift affire thy felfethe feedes of thy inte to hane bene lowne m's ferrilesfalle, forestrie graine of I due butted hi any breft, I will yeeld thee an eare of fiftie comes? Mean fure not I pray thee Empalus, the firmenelle of my faith; according vinto the fewenelle of these my words and thus until lowring fortune shall hingli on vs, till harrs calclately let may spring and profit in the beddes of our gardens, I commend thee both After

After this the opated manie pleafaunt lines bepercene them, neither did Engalas write fopithilie, but Lacrefia aunivered as prettilio: for thee were faines thee was fement: If hee could not difgeft delain. The could not but detell the cause that kept him away teache performed their denour orizons for their luckie loues; each thought fortune to be frowning, the fates fatall, Venu verie fleepie, or elfe fluggish; either that the not heard their praises, or elfe was onethard ingraming their requests; thus fixing togisher in the Somethy of their primes, and almost linking in these of their passions, they defired a thing no lefte difficult then damagerous, hard to be acted, and of hazard to be effected; they both wished a partey, which could not be compaised without peril a formence was the dreadfultheragen such a gardiant to the Helperide gardens, never gent for her hard to share of his charge, as Menthematical waries Acen logharic of his charge, as Menclow was warie in watching his wife; but to what ende? he might effect a mend her femidaelle. Neitherwas this fault peculiar to this particular onely; bur the follie of all men in generall ; it is as well ohars fives as it was his frenzie to look y & ouerlooke that which mangre their beardes will away e como, they may not frames har fitting to their own tung, which being tubburne will hounde french; they may no stellainher madnelle, who is not charodas cagles) as fligant febrile as lespents! diod and Supermos I companie to a blad admin Omnibus exclusis intus adulter erit. Mic hobiaten califolist was ded her but become ingral bole both of herlips and lep then Pohology all ind by many finers, rempted and attempted by mighty inters, and yer observed by my overfeets. It he competitle sproutering the more its reigned the ritters her streaments, the more its stopped and the ritters her streaments, the more its stopped and any acts of more market powerfeet and any acts of more market powerfeet is stopped and any acts of more market powerfeet more more military. B fat la la mark is fareft be fet, yen when where fis perceining figureeyed lealonfic to keepe tell so her chamber doore; and quick femed in neo following footing, rendiesousipheriteaft and her wines on the teniers hookes, il the might rackout fome height to hoods Bowes biggen Now the ien and that verielately viline her mother, might often and enter the she to enter the more who less welling was not fare whence the more who defined a such cytical more was fixed and food and from her house; but the definition has been an informed hamben has broken to be presented by the control of the complaints; praise the control of the cont ther species moreday beaptiful beomplaints; praise on periodicon perfere preferent and promise of factors to produce respected and mention of produce respected and more respectively. their lotted. The street of the intricating was appearance on their limital affailusing that two dates te emed fisting to be their limital affailusing that tyen deformole abing that the yellought toy a genter to be the patient before the pherical houses avast preferred; but the quincie on Gentlewomen had madness fitting that there bable content of where the windeless hering by pro-bable content of where the windeless houghthe-less winking acts as willing to conceale its presendingaioumey from home, at the vericinstant Thur vorte decress and thereby cur of the lovers defireselve bich newensolated by Sparing, was bitter to Employ, and no better to Employ who no fooner heard it but tooke it with heart till at the last counting againe bereardes and cashing away cares, they statooles (quoth the) who lesis inddic girded only who are gond and and all of the house compare to her boat one way to obtain their wills. Tully ich chis will nout age tre mult frame anothertereband foorhwith hopping commandiff. fening pennacopaper a share commended her kinfm Pindeliero Burneles withing him to have conference with the many for hee could further through finish sheir dekress. But Buryelus who had learned did letten their finismentity. Temporke charily, if nor chally investion was non-kafily perferded to mist him whom the hadranteriried, to commit his famous his fores or at leaft not to his friend to put his life in his picture; whom he lawe each companion to extend his picture; whom he lawe each companion to extend his mitters, he was dominaum dealth of effect (inhole de ce en extend his was liftened for epistero Rome of home partaine waight in affaires grischich Emba linge otherwise for the home at the each his inpuntation has bed his inpuntation for the home waight in affaires grischich Emba linge otherwise for the home at the each his inpuntation of the home and his inpulation of the home and his in her, or gitte her the adew, this was it which griped and greened him, Therefore when sime haltehed his trauell, weeping with falt teares outwardly and droppes of bloud inwardly with more paines and complaints then any pensive penne can describe, he left the Citie and thrine of his goddeffe; and againe Luciefia was Thunder-striken with this suddaine chatinge and forrowfull chaunce, that burfting out of an extacle wherein the had long flood, like one beholding wedefachead lamenting as if the wold have died, and in dying made an attonement with death? never he went out of her Chamber, but fill face weeping and wayling, wringing her whitelillichands, and fixing her blubred eyes on the comfortelle ground, full chad in fable habite, witnessing her hearts fidnesse, and still crying on the name of Buryalar, fill cafting oneworall invectives against the deftines, eatling her felfe an accurled wrench, borne vnder vnfortunateplaners, and comprehens ding part of her way ling in there words. Is this the gaine which capid grueth to his captaines & dooth Penus thus pay her worthick warmours with paine? Ah, or is it ber my haple to hap, my luckieffe lot, my froward faceto infferfuchanileries oh who wil give me a fountaine made of mound, what I may weepe without meane, and foulemy fortowes up infinels ling tears? But where are thou Earpalus, and in what place reflethithy beltraughted life & Ifshoulare fafe Immortade if meric, lamgadodf healthiggthen am I whole! If ficke? I am forie: but mydimining: may procite my wor, and my bewaiting breede my bane. This the face plung echiechis per plexing fore-iking all histonance with sombob that her servences and friends feeing her melancholy and almost males content, imputed the emile thereof to a confumption, or fome other desperate distale, but indeed shey did teat perceing where the shoot did wring her salkthe houfe feemed blanckeand blacke as though the finne had bin eclipfed levenie one bearing a part in confort of their militefle fornows: this mounditoritinged for the space of two moneths, at the end of which time, thereacided tidings of ##ryalm his rename, and then as though face had bene awaked out of some deepe and drow lie seepe, shee channing hermoane for mirch, her forsowe for folace; pursoff her mourning weeds, and any red her leffe with sichefidoabes, docking and pecking her hairie lockes, and amber treffes, having her fairest facewalled with oderiferous oyle, fragrant owners, with fivees melling waters, and for embellishing her pureft beautie, with pale fing brancric afree floode in expedition of her dearlingsapproaching and within a while Cafer passed by with a royall traine of Capilires and Martralife, who now, as oter acoustomedly was, accompanied with Euriday whoms becaused vato him and of most price, lo tode beenearest wan so his person wo And then Gafan who could never paffe by Eurrelia without dispense of an amorous looker locing Engine falls of and in his light, bee indiagolided the matter Engalm dispis maniel quitter force but could be fire earmorbee concred, torobarough immobiled the fire earmorbee concred, torobarough immobiled the fisher magist and captally gazing formabolidy hermathry may hade their faking heads, suppoleall their bodies to be vafeene, and it is hande for thee Euryalusto march in snet, and not beeknowne: none euer could have a fight of Lucrefig in thine absence, when thou wast wanting it should seeme that this Cynthia was farre waning : who now againe like freshest Aurora in fairest morning, sheweth foorth her broydered haire, and imbrodered habite. I promile you Cafar, answered Euryalus, thesethings are parables to mee : but belike the neighing of our horfes, and the ruffling coyle which your long beard keepeth here, makes the Gentlewoman looke forth, to learn what newes is fignified by this noise. Cafar cut to the quick with this quip, rather pocketted it vp , thento interrupt Emplan, whomhe lawe imployed in greeting his miltreffe with his eyes, the mellengers of a feeret falutation, Milas in the meaner ime busied his brains to compasse and accomplish some exployt, wherby hemight present Euryalus to his Ladie Lucresia, noring the fituation of Menetus his house, marked the backe part thereof to be rebutted with the back fide of an Inne, only a wide channel for fincke of three elles breadth, divided and differered them . fo their he windowes of their highest roomes, were the diffance of two yardes afunder: then Nifus pofling to Enzyalus, whome hee foundefearthing his pacquet of innentions, if any fale conduct there might bee fifted our, through which hee might pale undersafegard to his militresse person: but Nifas feeing him in such a browne studie, interrupted him in this manner. What Euryalus is your minde on your halfe-penny? a penny for your thought: יון הכרפ

and some desired and the some.

thought then you confesse your self answered En ryalus, to time offered metoo much by mrimif-pennie, and therefore no good cheapman, that can no better cheapen the chaffer, Why (quoth wift) I offered thee to well, and profered thee more then thy ware was worth, because thou were my friend. O was that it replied Euryalus? faith viider the name officed hip holdevpthy hand; and take this nothing, for nothing rout keep it fafe I pray thee. And couldeft thou then thinke of nothing quoth wifus? Why not faid Empalus, for I thought of a word or two of Energias letter, a word I hope is a verbe, and not a nowne, which is the name of a thing. Tulh, tulh, Empalus, auniwered Wifes, nowe you have caught your felfe by the noie, for verbes as you fay are words: words may be heard, and a nowne is the name of a thing which may be heard what an olde Treuant, and cannot rell what part of speech is Hos working yet? As who would say quoth Euryalus, that all things which may be heard are nownes ino Wifus, fome are verbes, and if thon remainest increditlous, let Andier bewitnelle: for he laith that hee is heard, and yet is no nowne. So, to, replied wifin, you had neede bein the palsitie voyce, who are fo palsionare: Certes Nifes (queth Ringalus) Invonid beactime, for Amois my poelie and if I could come to the first conjugation once, my heart would bee caled, my passions appealed : but he yourknow if I were actine, who though be passine? Larefla you mean (faid Wifw) burhow if the be like wife agent, for fure the cries Amous well as your lefe. Howlecuer replied Enryalus, yet are we viter passines. The where wheream fall this while (quoth Nifes) if I multibe a commention copulative belike, and though Ast melala himselfewere Interiection, yet will play my part for the ductoyning: &c. And to exclude all icafling know Euryalus, that by mine helpethou fhalenow enion the fight of Lucrefus, talke with her and if thou will imbrace her : for proofe whereof follow mesther i would quoth Euryalus of farend transportentistheightlowes, but rotake no part of shy repaft to Leannow away with rope feeder and I feare me inwill choake thee Mifus , if shou doo but on talkerheroof You will leauethis gear or eptied Miffan por elfe I will leave you rare you the man whom I found so dead in your dumps year while it I praythee beare with me Nifus (faid Euryalus) it is the expectation of thy promife that makes me meriei Bearewithimequothyou, nay Hadbeltibeare portand then might you cleanly hit me homestage ing the foble did ride mees Well then I percoine il misfrake the last replied Euralus, because you will have it for oh mine heart, my heart. Nay I pray thee Entraluche not altogitherin extreames, Liveld not hatiethbe voyd of modeltie neither, nor yd wolwell melandholie, bur now you had bell projudd your selfe for a parley, with your mistrelle! by this time werethey come to the line o which Euryslas willlingly enered, not respecting the infaminiofithe place in norhifpecting any faithleffe dealing infileh du Infranciompanie as peraduentinenvas there spoured: yearwhich washnoff, Realing from his goodly guarde of fernitors o who might otherwife hat reveighted on him, and warded him likely indignitie fusfiicient digititie did hee fafter for his dearest Lucrefino fake: then was beeldirected into the fore-memioned chamberby wifus and there placed in the window whence his prospect was inrocknows shochamber, and there wifes tooke his deane, deaning Battonlas to watch of peraduentire any channes might bring his deare vp along by his florid when for one willing to fawcohis painwith formediams of pitefore; aglast presented Lumpforto his sight; who came rothe window row ling has ever on everificite, as leafracquainted with aniefilch inarter joom auch woeil Barydosefplying hir, and his hard teaping within ward folace with ither tookes my louising worth heb? here, here, feethy feinant Barbabb, ôthou date of any life, and flaie of my liberties this Barada is here, my heart, my health, why fearth my deaper fair, where thereignofallacie i What my fourly Eurydel, is it thy ditting femore which I comemplate 16 I behold three my pleasure, and carrie withhold my felf fro thy fweet company bush at Euryalus any iem any iewel; my joy, I would, I could also emoyaby felfe, at well as thy fight: Why it is the teaft matter of an hisdred faid Euryalus, looke that none be near thee, and tockthe chamberdord, and foon will I with a bridge mudeofthis ladder fealerhe window: nish we have tooroolog deferred our delights may quoth Enerefail thou halt any care of my credit, be not to hearly wherehad I wiftmay come too late; litis a falle and faithfelleneighbor, by high is here addiacent, whole windowes thank round about it is he draw are and it is not bell Engalis, to troft atteches as a utimor who wil regainsone great out both burthagestit diamine fufficient fufficient that at this time we have power to powte forth our complaints, & discontent into each others before: I wil work an other mean for our meeting, in the mean time Buryales learn this leffon; Quod defartur um auf ermuthe time is not pent which is deferred, but lent & to be recalled. I but answered Enryalust Mori quicung, merantur, Fooles that will not take occasion by the forelocks. Me thinks I am now in as great torment as formimes Tantalus, flanding in the wave water to the whin, and yet wanting water to quambehischiefts tike Dimocles confirminel to fall at a laintibleaft: like Mide miferable amongsthis golden mines and like Aufopotoxi, gazing at his meate through a glaffe, whereby he was hindred from his praig when he most hungred and this light doch so animare my delires, that it dooth almost exeminate styles, & it is no leffe the death to be refinined. Bus forthistime Lacrefus, my will shall be governed by thy directio. I wil cate no grapes became shey hang aninch our of my reach. Afterthis, they couried a way the winged hoterwith pleasand is ourses, both frining as farre aschoir fleevestcould firerch which mould be most liberal: Euryalis by the help of a reed conucied oned voto her tablets to adorne her inorie neck, and rings with pithic poolies fit for their purpoles but Everylanor only countennailed his collis butever measured to him by a larger model neither of their wills wanted meither of their welchs wanted bunfill Lucreficinally vanted of the conquest. Good Sofia incling this ferch, and not a trule imiling at his Mistrate folia, I see it is lost labour (quoth hee) no guide and governo the dooings of youth by our aged doatinges, to square they ramourous fedipas byologuire of our faides to leavell our their loce by the line of obstilling by fishing Little will nordefill from her pecuilhnelle, I mult needes assisther producedings, teasthen de foperist and her vohole hock intering disparage interes of prantificial the chrater is nahe this bred the leaft to the fufferent la La orgia will mouseficaine her luft, por cannot refraine from folly, yet we must promide that rumors month may be flopped, and my Ladies infamicflayed. Did northewpman lay the would die if the were debate red from his companie i which duchi do pretent, b wil nowfanour, yearnd further horivill, who earls did withftandher wilfulnelle, my care halbehece forth imployed that they be not discontered ! will togunerlecke wredrelle her infirmite, and reprefle her infamic No hertall marbaceb; whofe heart is not monds with love this binderlishe flout oft; this bendeth the from effor But bee is reputed most continuit; that dealeth of Hofely. Whiles he faid thus, he fawerhe louers departure, and addressing himselfe to his mistrelle, whom he met arche chamber doore nay I perceine well inough quoth hee, that Emyalus is fill your faint, though now a dayes I cannot be your feerers. ry. You had need be charie in your choyce, to who you commit fuch a charge: It is the fiel degree of wiftime with the stone Approxies, not to be defaced by fice problemed and missing in the standard point shares. And draw is impossible without some intercessour a you know my faith and fidelicies, how willing I hadeat! waies bene both to pleafe and pleafure you, laie any burthen on my backe, and you hall findemediatiful co counsel you in your proceedings and diligent aged document, to far me they enneaurous of Enryther and Everefee.

orprovate your practifest I belocue theranswered Energie, and if thou faiest thou will be true, I will fivearethou with betruftie : but thou feemeft I cannoreell how flackey and flow einthy fertileer when loners who loning febracib delights, cannot away withdeldie. But fine thou commest without call, know sthou frak not find and emptic fift: thou knowest the subjournesse of my stames; which can never bee quenched nor quallified without Eurgalus his company which had I once enjoyed, it wold forthwith content from flame to flame, from rage toreafon, theh might we more moderate thefe motions, and be more circumspect to anoyd curious suspiri-ons. Therefore softs haste theero Euryalus, certify-the him, that on the fourth day following, our husbandmen and hindes bring the corn as thou know-eft from our farmes to this dwelling house, so that Euryalus conering his robes withingges, and counterfeiting fome porter in his canualle lacker, may infinuate himfelf into effeit company, professing them good will, and profesing them his helping hand, lastly poyling his daintie litouiders with a lack, and passing vp the stayers , bymy Chamberdoore, to wards the garner, where calting downe his loade, and returning, he may turne into mysodging : this fleight may heevie withour hilpitions and hearest thou sofia? bid him boldly bounceatmy Chamber doore, for I will be within & expect his comming. Sofia confidered it was a desperate adventure, yet condescended to undertake it, and foorthwith hee made Enryales act trainted with ther with framagem who againe prefit to imbrace her prescription, passed

. The received History

normaline acheriomica do mone here fon a fonely the complained, that foure daies yours simes, four audine mile houres, were too too long: So He could not denife how so we an away the wearictime o hardied heady enderors of Kerw deabtieknights! Staff & retchleffe attempts blindland bolde adventume I Flow are they wilfully minded and wittelly maned? how fond and foolish is there futied how made and mobnelicke their malladie how looks their distolute relativious 21 what Caftle cannot both compatte and conquere lasyhar Cittie dare they not both boliege and Jacke I what Bulwarke prefume they not both to belet and batter? Now Empley to dectine the redionine fe of the day! would good bed with the lambe, and rife with the lackes yet would the night logme lost fome, hee would (pend the day in contring Ladies & discourling of lone, yet he deemed everich oure an year, till redrole ingred Amora appearing with her graic hairs, all bedangled with lither deaw, games watchword to got geom and glorious Ababa, who rowling and miling himlelfe from his waterie coutch; crowning his golden lockes with a diadem of chrylolites, mounted up lottic Almana, and newly preped and appeared arrough porizons when loc Euroslocitoing and furnishing himlelf with a cost of rich camelle, girding his middle with a mailing corde. and difguiling his face betooke himlelfe among ft the rafficke downes, and coultrilles, whom he Sounde at the forelaids farmes, now preparing to repaire to the Cities amongestings could bee fo cumningly counterfeyr, fo conserv conceale him felfer to properly and pleafauntly fit their humours, and invitate their manners, that one would five are by the maile betway a good fellow, an other would prefer him to a fresh pot of mother Bromleys Ale, the third profer him a breakfast of good barley browne bread, a peece of reftie bacon, and fuch like daintie cates as they had readie in their Gottages. Who would think tours force of such effect, that it could make the proudest, abiect bine bautiests humblest? the loftieft, low lieft & march apollo with Pan? the Princewith the pealaunt o Within a while thele filliband distiple Swaines animed with their loaden Carres and desictions his house, and cuerie one of virem taking a facke on his shoulder; fascended to-wardes the Gamer, and Empalus dooing the like, and likewife againe defeending, when hee fawe thercoafterolease; purfied at his Miftrelle Chamber dobresquenich biggood chaunce flewe open-and gradied himswifted paffage: where seeing his dearest encresses who was then working an handkerdheffe with blacke filke and golde, although thee haddlide this plot her lefte, yet at the first highe of him thee flarted, let fall her needle, and thought maker forme spirite had appeared then Enryder being photehus for har deuterd when ther fiel would commit him the so luch danner, to have gained the daintieft Ladie in the world:vntill affired with his fabration , confirmed by the wiewe of his mentions imboldened by his imbrackingery heatrods and hasdened by this killes, ther again amunallic caff, her foulding armes a bout his howie neckey and with muche adop (while then.

(while fuddain ioves furprized her speech) drained forthvil all words white arction prefere my priore where the harmy Bairpalary my deare Euryalus, is it thy selfe whom I beholde with mine eyes, whom I hold in mine arms? there sheedtopped the youthfull blood dilpearled through her forehead and dying her alablafter cheekes with a brimfort colour: halt thou palled the pikes and dispiled all perils for my fake din this haue I fel the pailles of thy faith, and perceitted the heart of thy loyall lone: whereforemeaning henceforthmener to diffiglish perotil. I here promise suprotes that mone shall henceforth have interest in hirrord with her hearty but onely Buryalas bur come my delight, away with this porpers weede, and leamer fee mine Euryalas. Which thing her wightly and willingly performing, now ruffled in his filles and fearler, all befrangled and imbroduced with gold, furpalsing the traine Planmix, or the gimering beames of Phabus, when fitting in darke mantled cloudes he darteth foorth his ruddie influence vppon the earth; of like int s the mellenger of the gods, diadded in her variant and orient coloured robes a there was the interior habications of their hears, and relling place of their choughes polletted with fuch delighfull disports, and new coccined loyer ascheir minds might with to hade or their foules define to feet and loo, which Engales was latted affeepe with her rider speech which furpalled the benium glound of a wier-fleint ged cycherie: when Europe was imparadized with the figred eloquence flowing from his tappie wid then, tien, as oftenimes there happeneth a backward for among figood fuccelles, a jarring discord in a sweet diapazon, a pricking nettle in a pleafaunt nolegay, a foule maime in a faire man, some drops of anney, in a dish of ioy. Sofie knocking at the doore, dashed and danted their delights with his fearefull alarme. Take neede (quoth he) you louers, for my maifter hitherward hafteth as faft as he may, for what cause I know not, but as I coiecture by his countenance, he is not a litle chafed. This newes scarce sounded fo well as musicke: but oh if you had seenethe face of Buryalm; the phylnomic of Lucrefia, how they were both at their wittes endes, how her play-fel-low became her plaining-fellow, you would have faid, that hee of a bolde gueft, had become a bloodleffe ghoaft; but thee, as women in tharpest woes lefte ghoaft; but thee, is women in that per woes have that perf wittes, commaunded him quickly to conveigh himfolfe into the hole which the the wed him vnder her bed, for the requoth thee, is nothing but writings, apparell and lewels; and there maie thousevely thrustdeshy felfe from this showre: Exception thousevely thrustdeshy felfe from this showre: Except thouse though hee stood staggering as not knowing what course hee had best to have taken, yet seeing it dangerous to stand in deciding and deliberating the doubt; made no bones of the matter; but crept on all four einto the forefaid dangeon. She had no soones of the matter in the reserved the decreased contraction. ner opened the doore and secured to herneedle, but in came Menelow, and with himse Sergeam, both to feeke and fearch for a leafe or fome other writing pertaining to the Cittle, and maintaining the common treasury: which after it could be found in none other foffers, who knoweth faid Menelow, whether ir bein the dunggon or no 1. I pray the chelpe year fome light Lucrelia for no placeliken to have it then this hole Euryalus hearing this cooling cardes was frooke (as I thinke) dead in the neaft and even eurling the hourd wherin he first looked on Lucisfis, wherein hee first loved her, and ofbole (quoth helihat I was was it not mine own rage & rathnelle that cast me on these rocks I now I am shared & enthralled, now shall I leefe my same, togither with c'e fars favour: my fame and Cefars favourquoth !? if I leave not my life behindome, I may thinke my felfe their happie ; for who can refere mee from furcand certaine death? but alas what is this, this little pattime and pleasure for which I shall so sweetly paics this minh bought with fuch milerie? this rape paged an Inche a rate ? Store is this follaces buy harperhelesining larrowes with the follie and frenzely to madde monall mone who will icopaid the aternal doy forthis external collide land yet will not Juffer the least france to winne the celefiallitivembly of belg, queranefor are passing yenrecontervades the flandarde to Helm withough shey timels of the impaktion in , yet will shew have a desaich of the impake a brushort of God bobold my Arcarched our armes, beholde the bowed kines of minchalmbled hearth beared he prayere fie per and references which shark may doo pertraunces for now become shat all is not golden which glider whi Il no divista which ship is a salist of Sinds the herelethen dictaitholieff? Outbille and deceleful Imagia achies to charap mee with thy treas cheire to floared hechebayte, but fwallowed the hooke i bur how off my father preaching and reason citing me hathfaid, that womens faces were lucrs, there benete bayers, their lookes notices; their words charmes in This song hathing faither often fung; which fore in Island of lowed; that northus fourtered a burnshar if whate fallen ? It is no queat shame to ful, but a shamefull fall, ever to he along sand this fall peraduenenre may procure my felicities Noctimental, dorus minist of Oranter than thind beene more circumspect and winter before thur eiteuchnehred : for printe bought with wee pis roa too deare. Moreover, whathope may I have to live thow may I eleane this tistande? no Jeannor I cannot, and therefore my teach draweching han he world with me whose between improvemently pay the price of my predictional futies the falletie of my finne. This latter Buryalus And against Lucrefit; who was as in tiche to the labory who was as in tiche to the in the labory who free cares, that hitherto dedged out her husband with film flammodelayes, being heatie both for Haryalachis dimminent hadme, and for her owne him But as the Herrwounded with a venemous arrows feederh of the trembe Dictamban, and thereby loofing hit arrows freated being venoched with the spider Philippines caretifes crabbes and is helped: and polioned with venimous hearths, cropperhitar-tychock as a prefent prefermatine and reconcretive as the Swallow curetti her young ones with the fronc chelidance the stocke expellections fix neffe by tailing the hearbe Origanum? the boote by de-uouring juic, the Beare by licking vp Emen, the Lyon by praying on an Ape: to likewise there is to man a medicine for cuerie malladie, a falue for eueriefore, a throude for euerie thewre: for beholde Lucrefiar Letch to defeate her husbands purpose: see the window, let vs first fearch therein, for there I do remember your felfe to have laide up fome Court rowles, and I knowe not what registers; and thus laying the hafted foremoft to the lewelet and cloiespushed it out of the calement, whereby it might be imputed to her hallinelle, or temeritie; and out alas (heectieth, helpe, helpe, my Mentans, forthe Calket is fallen our into the firees make hafte both. why fland you here I be packing for the passion of God leaf well frame former reat loffe in the mean time I will watch that none prigge or purloyne the feattered fewels: forthwith Mentlaw, and with him the Sergiant, both with might and main, made hafte into the freeze; but by reason of the house, which was to high, according to the Taffer manner, they could not returne with their earnings before Engalusby Lucrefie direction, had crept out of his den, be by Lucyful direction; has crept office in the main, and like a foxe out of the hole, changed his chamber. The other spending sometime in gathering up the shortesed and statement leavels; and searching in the same boxe for the forestid register, but not his ding it, remined to the dungeo of neaft frow hence Employ had so lately flew; where being made partakers of their wishes; and both saluting Lucress, sakers of their wishes; and both saluting Lucress. they deputed. But now Lurefulering the clouder of hereares put to flight, both of them to have cleaped such a scouring, which the fates had like to have nflicted onthem, addressed her selfe to Euryalus, in this maner. Come foorth Euryalus my dulcet delight, the bloffome of my bliffe, and floure of my elicitie, now are all things fale and fure. Though frowning fortune foght to have croffed the course of our cardes, and to have drowned the trumpes of our triumphs, yet the gods themselves would not fuffer two louers to faithfull to leefe the game. Why doeft shou flartiwhy doeft thou flagger! dread not, for the daunger is passed; be not timorous, since the ded. Euryalus marking, and therewith admiring her more then womanlike courage, had no fooner viwed his faier, then renewed his fier, beeing as readie nowso defend years, as then to defie vanitie; now more forward to make an Apollogie for loue, then earst froward to commit apostacie against beauties but in earnest quoth he (clipping her in his solding armes). I never was earst so dayned with chilling feare: neuer my heart to daunted with chilling feare: neuer my heart to fielde into mine heele, and bloud to comfort my face, which naked part was to abide the brawle and broyle, as much as any; but what of this? Are thou not worthise face whole sweet fake I should hazard both limme and life? yes thou are: and I cannot with to have woone thefe dulect kisses without some danner; to have gained such pleasure, without some paine; to have purchased uch a paradife; without fome prejudice: Oh how many daungers, yea deathes, could lendure? how many torments & sornings would I imbrace for thy fake?

fake If after death, I might again live, & again enloy thy loneromy fragrant hours, and weeter delighter my deare Lucrefu, dittine Lhen, is it possible that fhuld eiter be parraker of fuch palsing happinelle, as to imbrace thy princely person or otherwise domy fences delude me ? am I deceined, or do I dreame of fuch delight? do l'indeed viewshee, oris inbut a vid front sy certes it is thy feemity deligit, is thy comely corpes which I posselle: Duca gid was the in her form-mer filk gowne, which litting close & comely to eucry part of her perfectel body, without any wrine kle, and yet not bumbafted or bolftred by artificers skil, for no cloudes of gorgiouse loathing, lequid commend that which nature her felic could not a mend her neck was clearer then the bewriful Paria marble, or whitest roles, her face on which Euryllus alwaies fed and cheeks wherein he red she coins for characters of his delights, were commended with a ghapfing grace, between finiting contrenance ther gowne which was took and open before, displayed the fairest held argent that over eye beheld : where her filke loft pappes sprowing from hengoodly broad electrowith their prome beating and and sed the eyes of Euryalus, and kindeled the new fire of affection within him who moreoute knowing no space or place to beteft for party; but that hether ned like recipitated growth perceiving deathy and damagerous monthers to be in ways for chim under the ways of William and daring not rounench or marking heir heat with a full draught yfaintingly and by first hey lap, and by first best dipping but the tops of their raiting tongues; they prevent the lofte of their

Of EMPLANS AND LACTURE.

fittes : to Euryalus knowing time to bee beneficial! vinto him, yet not too bountiful : to be large, yet not ouer liberall : ending delaie, and beginning to dally, first hefer forth his foote, first he offered to gine the onfer and affault, neither by force hee first endetroured to take that fort, but by faire meanes, he required & requested the fruites of his lone & labors: the Gentlewoman waged the matter with words, which indeede are womens best weapons : faying that the had more care of her credite, and regard of her honour, then fo to thake hands with honeftie: that thee never paffed any fuch promife vnto him, neither did he euer craue any farther eurresie, then her company: or arthemost a kille, wherby finding occasio the fealed the fame with her bright fanguin lips, laying that now there had given him his defired guerdone: to which Euryalus imiling, replied after this manner. Either mine arrivall in this place is firspected, ornorsuspected. If suspected, certes the outwardhoft is suspected: if not suspected, neither withis bedabcied h Nay our off mine head quoth hel ifnow Hreapenorthe frue of my hope. I but it is finnesaid Averesia. Sinnequoth he dit is sinne not to fwallowin delights dangling at our lippes: It is finned adollaring franchistory of that anely may prefer ne our life. Resound dinat prefer neared freby daying propag. answorled Learning tomay they sale earth diddest say (quoth Euralus) that thou wert mine by right, though his by rigor; therfore where are now your weak reasonives lothey wern godwor & searle curbent to third to meeter whether your felfe bee as from coirefffi; las your gentle perswasions were fubhibhantafito make mee delift this being faid. Exralus as it best beseemed Euryalus, offered her gentle violence, and violent gentlenelle, which as fome fav fildome comes to women vhacepted : fhee againe for fashions lake combatted bur as willing to be coquered; for indeede, cre long Englis rode in trytimply: and which fome men may martraile at, hee behaved himselfe like Hydra, whose necks pared off with the heades, were repaired with two in eache place: like Auteus, gathering more force by eache fall or as the Rone of Thracia, which dipped in water to be cooled waxeth most feruent; after this Lacrelia feafted him with fome as daintic and delicate diffies, as her felfe could deuife: whereunto wanted no Pinime COS, the whethone of his fortitude: which done, Euryalus thinking of his former daunger, & thanking his goddeffe for his entertainment, they both tooke their leaties, as though they had foll their lines: especially Lucress, who often wein-ging him by the wriftes, with her whitest handes, killed him as if her heart had defired to meete with his, and his foule to joyne with hers: and thence betaking hir felfe into her window, like the fairest gardaine slowers, which beholding the departure of gladsome Phabus to his purple bedde, whose being early was their light, and life; some langing downe their heades as deprived of all pleasure, and others more credling up their tofticand leaviceres, firine to enjoy his fiveere fight as far as possible they may: to Excresia now pearched aloft to policife his beloued fight as far as her watery eyes could fuffer, and now againe hung downe her head in her bosome, of Eurgalus and Lucrefia.

as not able to fustaine to behold his departure. Now Euryalus hafted home, scarce acquainted with himselfe in his quaint apparell; and ôquoth hee, should Cafar now meeteme, I am fure he would meet with me for this geare: and if it were my desteny thus to be taken tripping, I could either wish that I had no fuch weede to disguisemy bodie, or else that I had a vizar to couer my face; with what excuse could I auoyd his suspition? how would heeride me with phobbing, how wold he deride me with flouring? there were table talke inough for the whole towne and countrey: no excuse though neuer so artificially coyned would passe for current; no plea would take place in his deep pen-fearching fight : For Prinses will not bee bobbed out with every bable, every tale of a tub or tom thumb, will not passe in their sights for troth: it is harde to blande Lincous eyes, harder to anoyd the quickfight of the princelike eagle, then of the peasantlike blinde buzard : and bardest to cast a mist over Princes sound and profounde indgements. Well then I might fill Cafars head with lies, but not his heart with likely hoods: therefore to audyd the thrust at the heart, I would takethe rapiers point in mine hand, and let him cut my cappe, to spare my cockskombe: I would confelle my felfe to have ferented some other matrone, but not Lucrefia, who is his mistresse: for if he found me pricked in the same vaine with himselfe, sure I should poast hie way to the pot. Whiles he discoursed these things to himselfe, he vnawares onertooke Missis his olde Achates, and with him his friend Licinese, whom'he ouergoing, and still keeping himselfe sixe paces before them, euer offered vnto them the

the object of his backlide, fo that he was not difcyphered of them, vntill he had recoursed his house, where difrobing himfelfe of his coftly canualle, his inward ioy makin, him ofte fpring frothe ground: he Roseius-like, reneated vnto them the faire & foule weather that had hapned in his loue: Now whiles he vnbroached his bliffe, halfe blufhing hee painted out in his face the anatomic of pleasure : againe declaring his danger, with paler countenance, looked through feare, as if his eies wold have run into him, and his heart out of him: and then with a lamenting ioy, and ioyful lamentation: ô God, ô God (qd.he) where were my wits when I trusted a woman with mine head? who (as her whole fexe) is euer trothleffe?flood it with realo trow you? I am fure it flood not with my rule: I mean this lesson, Mulieri ne credas ne mortue quidem. How if her husband had perceined the fleight, when I was loaden with corne? how easily had he slain me? how the had he borrowed all mens breaths to found the brazen trump of my infamie? Oxfar furely wold have hated me, and hating, hanged me; and hanged, I shuld have defaced & defamed mine whole progeny: how if Menelaw hadrowled me from the den wherin I was hid? Lex Iulia affoords but smal fauour to adulterers; and yet the husbands injury exacts more revenge, the the others inflice hath prouided punishment: eafily might he hanerewarded me with either flabado, or ftrappado, especially when I wanted my trusty .. orglay by my side: he had weapo at will, he also had his train of feruants both to defend himfelf, and offend me: but my courage had beneeuelly awaited on by my my weak guard: moreouer his just cause proclaimed him conqueror, my guilty conscience pronounced mecognered. Foolethat I was, no force could have freed me, no eloquence deliuered me, no file of wifdom have distoynted those fetters : I but all this did Lucresias ferches, o faithfull Lady logratious Loud ô provident guide ! ô pretious & honorable ground of mine affections! I have tried thee: why the shuld I not trust thee? I hatte tried thee trustie: why then shuld I not henceforth try thee? yes, if I had a thoufand necks, and in enery neck did confift a thousand lives, & every life, were to be expelled not without a thousand torments, yet would I fearelesse commit them to thy fraudlesse custody: thou only knowest, how to lone wilely & to preserve thy beloued: women are proud to let thee one of their fexe to excellent, & to feethee fo excelet, they are a hamed: who could so sodainly have invented so pretties shift, to refere me from dangers mouth but onely Lucrefia? to whom therfore that I dedicate my feruice, but to Lucreflatit is through Lucreflas gift & I liuc, & enioy this light: wherefore I will not grudge to leefe that for her fake, which I have gained by her help:thou ô Lucresia, thou art my lines Lady, of which Iam but tenant, resolute to make relignatiothereof, when it that stad with thy pleasure: oh dainty neck! delicate breft! (wift but fweet toong, when that I again feele thee, foftly murmuring in my mouth? whe shal I again behold those warm marble parts? whe shall I again be fingring those fost silke paps? ô Nifus, Nifus, othat it wer possible for thee to coceiue hir perfectios, it is vapois legthe famous wife of Candaulus, should passe palle Lucresia either in beautie or bountie: and yet I maruaile never a whit that he shewed her naked to his friendlesse friend Gyges, to the end he might take fuller delight: fuller delights faid I? nay rather that he being alreadie great with ioy, defired to be deliuered of part thereof, to the ende hee might difgeft the relidue the better: and had I Nifus allo opportunitie equiuolent to my desires, I would preferre thee to a light of Lucresias naked felfe : otherwife neither am l'ableto expresse my pleasure in words, or thou to conceive it with thoughts: in this manner Euryalus to Nifus. And the like Lucresia would haue faid, had she had any to whom she might haue displaied the summe of her sollace : feare wild her not to reueale it to her superiours, distrust wisht her to conceale it from her equals, and shame bad her not make her feruaunts fuch great fecretaries : then judge you Musephilus (for I am fure you have had experience) how difficult athing it is, not to disclose inward delights: judge you of Lucresias plight, thus drowned in pleasure, with remembrance of Euryalus, and then give sentence whether you most pittie her pleasure, as being so combersom, or else reioyce with her for her punishment, as being so comfortable. But whiles this Leander was henceforth derained from his beautifull and beloued Hero, fearing the boysterous windes of suspition, whereby such waves might be railed, that hee vnawares might make shipwracke both of life and honour. In the mean time, Pacchorus an Hungarian Gentleman, who by his knighthood and brane service vnder Casars colours, had got both coyne and credit: prayes, and praile, of Euryalus and Lucresta.

praile, laude, and lande: fince warres were a little husht, carelesty floated in the seas of voluptuousneffe, and retchiefly raigned in the lazie leaze of lawleffe & awleffe liberty, where he fed on naught but loosenesse and licenciousnesse, whereby most prompt to loue, or rather proneto luft, he was, ere hee was aware, aboue shooes in loue : and with whome should it be for foorth, but with my Ladie Lucresia. And am I not also faire thinkes he? am I not endued with martill vertues, and endowed with other good and excellent qualities ? I but chastitie respecteth not the painted sheath, it elevateth branerie, with the waight of honestie. I but Lucrefia smiles on me amiably: I but this is a fleight, or rather deceit of these Gentlewomen, who vouchsafeto eache a courteous glaunce, leaft their love should indeede be glaunced at. I but my shaft never so right delinered, may be carried awry by the florme of her miflike: and therefore good to mistrust the worst. Thut faint heart seldome fares well: the woorst is a repulse, and a repulle cannot be worle the my prefent greef. I but sheemay reuileme, and reuealemine enterpriseto her husband: no, no, degenerate coward, that were rather the guile of a bale pealantelle, then of so braue a princesse; of a curious trull, then of a courteous Ladie; of a coy damosell, then of a kinde dame; if the cannot aide thee, the will not vpbraide thee. And moreover, Fight is the enfigne of courage, and often anayleth, flight the badge of cowardise, and never prenaileth. Therfore fith hardie venturing is a figne of happie victorie, found out the march with trumper of truft, beginthe affault, and hope to triumph. PAC-

MANAGERIAN MERKANG

Pacchoras forthwith bestirred his stumps, watching ech occasió to profer vnto hir his service, & letting no oporminity ilip wherinhe might prefer his fute. Poorefoulenor knowing how unfortunatly he had left the leading of the voward vnder Mars, to march in the forlorn-hope vnder Venus: within a litle space he viewed Lucrefus, who according to the cultom of those Gentlewomen of Senes, was repairing to our Ladies Chappell, her therfore he followed, whom ouertaking then accompanied with her aged nurle, and two handmaides, he presented with an artificiall violer, having gilded leaves, in the falke or neck whereof, was inclosed a loue letter written in thinneft paper, and verie closely rowled, and folded vp togither, and so carryed away with the swift tide of short leyfure, hee presented her with the flowre, not omitting highly to commend himselfe vnto hir: but Lucrefia as noting how he made curtefie the fuperficies or ourfide of his intended mischiefe, in no wife wold condescend to receive it: he baving broken the Ise waxed more bold, and was more instant on her, not to reject his denotion: The at his boldnes the more blushed, and the more shee blushed, the more the wasangry with the cause of her blushing, and the more the was angred, the leffe the feemed to accept of his present: til the old women vmpirelike, counselled Lucresia to take the offered violet. Why fear you madam, quoth the, where can Leno fraud? the matter is not great wherewith you may both please and pleasure this souldier. Hereupon the Gentlewoman bothto be ridde of a cumberfome client, and to performe her dutie towardes her auncient nurle.

of Euryalus and Lucrepa.

nurse, received the floure, and that without any extraordinary token of gratefulneffe, I warrant you. Pacchorus forthwith departed, not so much discomforted, as indeed discomfitted in the plain field, & yet not so much discomsited, as tryumphant that he had given the charge in the face of his beloved enemy, but Lucresia had not walked farre from the place. where the left her fouldier, but bestowed the flours on one of her Gentlewomen, who immediately afterwarde gaue it vnto two Students, of her olde acquaintaunce : with whome thee met by meere chaunce: who opening the violettes stalke, happened to finde the Epistle of Paccherus to Lucresia, wherfore exceedingly glad that they had found an occasion whereby they might be reuenged on the fouldier, betweene whome and themselnes, remained in their hearts the scarce healed scarres of olde grudges, whereupon flirred vp by enuie, and spurred by enmitie, they hasted to Menelaus, laying the Epiftle before his eyes, and requesting him to peruse it. But he as his face writ more in red letters, then his eyes read in blacke, girded with inward griefe, and therefore swelling, as one swearing the vitter confusion of his girdle, choller vntheathing the fwoord of revenge in his countenance, and brandishing the same in his fiery eies: And shall I thus (quoth hee) be made scandalous to the world; by thy meanes ? shall my face, earst the dwelling place of honour, now become the looking glaffe of shame ? O Lucresia, vngentillest Ladie, (therewith hee fighed, as if at once hee woulde have made a separation betweene the bodie and the foule) but if I line Lucrefia. Heere againe he making an Aposiopesis, becaufe the abundaunce of his exclamations newly conceived, and now to be brought forth, like euill mannered Citizens, who whilesthey strine, each first to iffue out of the gates, hinder each others passage, with mutuall preasings, rushed on him with such violence, that they almost burst him with the aboundance of that which hee most wanted: fothat heeremained mute vntill hee had recourred his house, where thundring threates outwardly, and lightening renenge inwardly, both wayes raining teares, here of water, there of blood, hee for ated and ratled poore Lucresia, year and that with fuch confused and vnperfect raylings, that he had almost breathed forth the fire of his anger, before the could learnethe cause of his anguish: ftill she was combated with a legion of fulpitions, but yet gaue place to the course of his furies fit, that afterward hir negative defence might take better effect, especially being not excluded fro entering by the munition of his rage, or intercepted from perfwading by the countenance of incredulitie; then the being glad that it touched not Huryalus, angrythat the was blamed caucleste, and yet speaking him faire to allay his furie, thee renealed vnto him the whole circumftance, to proue her felf faultleffe, bringing in both her Nurse, and handmayds for her witnelles: by whole allegations being halfe eafed, and yet not wholly appealed, hee appealed to Cafar, to whom he was not more willing to select it, then Cafarto reuengeit, because forsoon tee perceived Parcher w to have become his comment:

The excellent Historie

and years more favouring the man for his warlike proceedings, then fancying his person otherwise to him acknowledging his fault, and appealing to his fauour and mercie, he pronounced a pardon with this prouifo, that if everthenceforth hee attempted the Gentlewomans honour again, he would on his bodie reade a lecture to others vertues Parcherse was not daintie of oathes, neither doubted hee to powre foorth protestations, that hee never more would follicite Estrefision his futer onely affrongis magination perswading him, that the Gods were most partiall in punishing lotters perinties, and so repining at his fortune, not repenting at his follie, he departed. But within a whileshe yeare beganne to waxe olde, who as ever Like will to tike a banishing milde and youthlike Zephyrm, only delighted himfelfe with the focietie of wayward and chafing Boress. In fo much that his earst hoarie beard was turned into a foowie white : the whole Cittie heereby were inuited to their auncient or rather obfolete sports; wanton dames would firetchi heir modeftie in charging men with snow-balles, and young men likewise would showe both their pithiearmos, and dexteritie in delivering the same against their compeares Bachgrasin wholeheart Louetbeningenfinwhiten, had tooken piler eternall lodging, fezzed on this occasion vincluding the heraults of his lorle in an other letter , the letter in waxe, and she waxe in inpresing hich made into the fashion of ian hard ball, he him into Lucrefias window, hoping that free Somewheletter, would reade it, and in reading, be bully delto the we forme remorte on her haptelle orator:

orator but learne howe diametrically opposite it happened, how contrarie to his expectation, and then feetiow vainethey are, who build their hopes on happes ; forthe move ball passing by Excresias fide, lighted by the chimney where Menelum and the aged Nurse, who had alreadie passed the third part of their lives horizon, fat fuuning their winterie complexions by the fire, in which place the frozen vapor being diffolued, betraied the wax which wastod weake, to conceale the letter. Which Menelaw finding, opened, and reading, began to flir vp a new broyle, and yet durft not braule with Lucrefia, who hecknew could fearle difgeft his late inturious exclamations: Wherefore hee made hafte to laid all his tenne commaundements uppon Gafars promife, which was as I could before, to have feuere judgement executed vpon Paceborne: who contrariwife having fecret intelligence that his feate was againe detected, in conceys feeting part of that pu-nishmet which howas to abide, and fearing worse, adioyned the winges of seare to his heetes, and to faue his dearest selfe, lest both his Ladie, that Court and Countrey; this newes came to Euryalusas welcomeasa thewre of rained oth for the hufbandman in the middeft of harueft : for though hee could heue withed Paccherachis cuilt successered oubled, yet he knew that Menelans hereby warned, would be hencefoorth armed against all fuch like initialise ons : knowing also, that while heefet afpringe to take the Snight, hee might entangle the Woodcocke, and yet hee was as well able to enterraine feare in his heart, as Lucrefiato conceine hate and 013000 but whileft he was thus mightily spurred by soue, and yet milerably raighed by circumspition, that which added courage to his rage, was to beholde Lucrefia fo vadaunted, norwithflanding her late dangers: infomuch that the now gave him notife by the mouth of her truftie feruant Sofia, how that Menelans that day departed into the country, where hewastofolourneforthenight following. Sofia difcribed vnto him his maisters hay loft, where hee should hide himselfe varill evening, at what time vling the helpe of a scaling corde, with little labor, he might ascend into Lucrefias window : where the was determined to awaite his prefence, but as the river Alphans refuleth not to scowre through the falte and bitter leas, forhat at his journeyes ende hee may embrace his belowed Arethufo, fo Euryalus thinking no burthen that was not for loues laketo bee borne : no daunger fo hard, no cocerprise so hause, but that love lent wings to flie toit, wesponto fet vpponit, will and courage ed the direction of Seria, and made the have his coutch vntill night, at which time, hee hoped for a benerlodging and as V Phen we expect the full tyde of our ioyes, the more sweete weetmagine them to be, the leffe in frifmeffe the wearse houre feemeth to our hungris minutes o So Euryalus most listened if he might heare either rocke or clocke, both which feemed to have conspired with time against his pleasures: when loe fodaine feare feezed away this famalie: for Drama a pewie groome of Menelans his flable, inough hing before he had half finished bows come with his prounge to the fide of Easy Just and doubtelle through ignorance he had endaningered his bodie, had not sofathebetter prepented it who confidering Euryalus to bee betweenesthe anneile and the fledge, and therefore gently wringing the protinge from our Dromps elubbed fiftes the mediparch this chare (quoth he) and does heare me Brome his thou arta good fellowe fee our supper provided wruth, weele be as merrie as crickets while my mafter is away, let all goe which way it wil for vs weele fpend for life, Drome : and therewith he claps him on the thoulders, whereat Drame grinning, made a premie parrowes mouth, ha, tweet a merry worlde if wee could dwell with our miffrede fil; cuta buttom he is a pinch-penny, neuer well I thinke, outcept fotding vor one vilde varror an other veeding vs with porhing but finede croufts of browne barley bread, now and than abunch of porress, agatlickohead, a pecce of rough check, reflic bacon, becke readicito creepeour of the powdring subling our mouthes; before it may fall to our mowing so Nay Lean tell thee more then that too; harke hither Drome: hee goes supperiesses bed twife a weeke to make vs yalt too: walt with a vengeance, walt meene valles: Hees a voole in my minde, that will line mifer ably to die a Gentleman I know it A. Dreme. No, no, my mistresse is the woman when all is done; nay, but thou haft vorgotten our prouigion finte. This faid Safia; not because it was his proper phrase in speaking, but as knowing best howe to strike Drive in the veine, whence he might unbroch web flobered eloquere, inough of Buryalus and Entrefia. His bintons with laughter and then Dramo, as if his withe had bene come to inpplie the flage, began to gape fow ide, what his golden teeth orier layed with honny, would have made any ones mouth water I warrant your Mas well zed Sofia; (quoth hee) befireweing bones, if chad not rather greate mine owneeogges, then zame the horfe: our maifter and I redefaunting into the country to day, allengeance breakenecked him, vorme not a word of him as Tould get, but that I must come having vor him again to morrow: the direll yor-vendit! Imarry fir. now ichech theethanke softa, chadnener thought the wife beverenow, chad zonght mee's new ma-fler bevore this time aday; if my mistrelle had not lined my paunch chery morning with good fittles: which was not woont to have my belly pinched a-vore now . I neuer came were it grewe yer, inor I: but thall I tellthee solid, lemee alone for zupper weele have good cheare by the belly want, weele moinich, Avilland racell upmore in this one High? then maket that Perape vpagaine this month in Phis was mulicked amulus, who notwithflanding here bytooke i mediare of lenums maners, and thought his birnerio chaingelings knowing they ferred ham allow the lame lance. But percelling Drome by this time to have winded his hipper, and therfore to have bene packing, to be symposium obtaining if his companions, herofeep thaking the hay off from his camualle fiches, and taking "some by the hand, of aith-famula a find hee; what a golden high that Temby by thy bedie? thou halt faved my hie; year and drat to embrace Lucrefie: what meede may countervaile thy merite what guerdon require thy good will? what love may newarde thy labour? Affire thy fellemy foule shall not be vnmindfull of thy courtelies. And then Euryalus feeing his appoynted time to approach, with little labour, especiallic borne vp with the light wings of Loue, feeled the window of Lucrefice lodging, where he entring, espied her sitting by the fire , and as the hasted to meet him, fatured her in this wife: how faces Lacrefia the sweete solace of my soule? Lucrefie taking him about the middle, replyed thus askethy felfe, my louely Empales, on the threed of wole loue is twified the twine of my life. Why, quoth Euryalus, whilesthou sileftnor, the flower of my love must needes flourish : and whiles the flower fadeth not faid Lucrefia, my life may not fail. With that the two imperions louers (as if valiant Mars had combatted with Dame Cutheter for fuffring her boy to make him the mark of his game) role in armes, wher loue conquered pleasure, Desire tooke Desight captities and little Copid like a valiant Carpet knight, flew into Person his mother bosome. But as after the fullest ride fuccedes the shallower chbe: the lostics hilles are accompanied with lowest Vallyes, the brighest day is followed with blackoft night: For our freeeft pleasure is sameed with paine, or rather for everie adopt of mirtle, me finde the substanuce of mome: For carce had Engales slept one hours in securitie of his joyes, but that Some bringing suddaine slarum, bad bim flie, for his Master of melany was at hand, ad algeadie entered dichouse; By which time, as I thinke, Euryday thought his heeles the most profitable members of his bodie, and Lucrefix deemediliefame of her handes, which best perfourmed their dutie in remooning of the Table, which lately was furnished with rarest dainties : which done, the welcomed her husband with thefe like freeches: I am fure you looke for welcome at leaft, which for your half you may go without by this I fechow I as little comeinte your minde abroad, as into your harrar home ; would any man fertie his wife fo but your felf go to, go to, take heede leaft I fmell outmorethen you are aware of Whie beare you not me company as home? if it be because you loue menot, yet you should pitieme, and not thus to put me infeare, for still your absence makes mee doubt some danger, and I cannot be inquiet wating your copany: perhaps you loue some other woman better then my felfe, as indeed most men vie roplay foule play with their wines sif I millake, let your ownehomeentoy more of your company, and fo I pray yourid me of this vaine contecture. I need not tel you how proud Mendaus waxed atthele words, how arrogant, howewell herhought of himfelfe, but now beeing in the Hall (where Zwerefia mene him, and where Drome, as I faid, was Lorde of milrule, amongst his companions) taking Lucresta by the hand, tolde her that he came from supper out of the Cittie, and that the bed looked for them boils. where hee would make an amendes for all olde discourresyes. Therrive, as Mentalles are brightell where they are wome, Pommanders fweetell, when they are chafed plpided brufed become more more oderiforous; gold is by fire purified the sales mander skinne by the flame it punged: Se bishane in unition by deungers sharpened; which appeared in the castillar who knowing Empales not yet to have blessed in the castillar who have blesse ped out of perils pownces, leafthe should be taken tardies coyned this excuse to detaine her hulband fro his haftic intent. And could you in faith (quoth then) findein your heart oabide to inche Citie leauing me postalone? how have bliefull folkary waiting for your comming supposing you were yet in the countrely, and determining not to receive anie part of repair, vatill your return? Norwithstanding the hindestransporting divites wines from the florehouse to our cellse spatid not to commend them as passing pleasures infoorbillhad noisy as yer to take any, because of your absence among therefore servis Rep into the cellar, that our ownb experience may teach vs whether they be as they have bofted them with commendations) for excellent sim faying thus, the craking her hulband by she hande a defended with him into the collar, inhere now peareing that bute of tackes now another, arkach fipping to her half band delayed the time votill the knew Euryala's consinty to have lafely departed. When againe the repaired to the place whither struction had long incefent beforthis affordions; buitwhere heredifdained oncoro for footing . Shorely hide to the melant; whether it werbelter he growing promident in itasedahe prudent Brinces who fortifier bis Citries with munitions before bis enemies threatnesh violence: likethewise fathenoshis familie, who fuffet through the production of the state of the s THOITE

BELLEVILLE STATE OF S hepresently expecteth not the thecues initalion of likethe fubril Bore, who often whetteth his tulkes, all hough he heareth not the yelping houndes firiking aterrible alarme into his vp-pricked cares; or whether suspition had crept into his crastie head, the next morning he walled vp that window which fo lately had affoorded both accesse and regresses Euryalus: and no marmaile: for if the spider feelethe pinnes poynt, neuer fo foftly pricking his webbe, I cannot fee how the man should have a collop out so close from his owne flesh and bee not perceive it. And yet if hee glaunced to nearetherruth, dyming onlythrough a meere suspition, I must needs say it was that passing faire, especially of one so vnskilfull as himselfe, who hit the marke, holding the Cuckolds ende vpwards, and least perceived it: yet he was not ignorant that Lucrefia was enery day affaied with letters, affayled with giftes, angled for with praises, opportuned with prayers, and allured with beautie, which wanted not pollishing with rarest brauerie: to which he added, that moment wittes were apt to follies, and prove to idle fancies, fickle like the weathercocke, turning with enery winde, longing in lone to Saciate their desires, and yet lost bing in facietie. Therfore very encumipectly as he thought, he provided not against that which was, but that which might been moreouer, he incensed the Maior or ruler of the Civile, against the Vinner or In-keeper, whose Tanern as I faidebefore, was too neare adjoyning to his house and as the firmgeft in picking aquarell; will finde a know in abal-ruske, to Menetam according his meight hour of demain ourragious renels and renilings, and fered Reed fered in his house, to that might over bearing right; ponew oppression the poore, and the subsit feeting theeder of his he is against the simple, he distorded the weaker defendant from his wonted neaft; and detained the renoment in his ownehands: whereas also in other places he fortrickity watched, and ftraightly warded, that neithe Expansion performight approcha come to any condenient partey; or by letters underfland the detorning of each other meaning, or meeting: onbythis comfort was left vinto him; if I may call it a comfort or tarter corroline, that whiles he paffed through the Areet, he might feed on hir faire face, as on a diffico finear molt disputie; and yet most dangerous of the only; and that protosten, emioyed his fight; I may not say to yet in his fight, fine each fight of his, was somed with her fight. But whiles they were this carried away with the vehement cide of their, delites, and yet withheld by to file winde of her hofbands leatoufles who would foon chane winded their confederacie, who log ward warched her, and whole regard waited up bon threm, in fach fort, that they could not freany hand-fall on their hopes." Averefix offernimes withed her felfe rather bedded: in her grave, then thus weddedto greefe rather raked in mouldel, when this tacked with miletie: rander once fliffed with death, whon bill frangled moreover, he incented the Maior or rulared obatiiw n Bus Emyden even as earefultasher felfel richiles : hetast about collay forme complar for their purpoles called to mind the counfeil of Encrefa, which was, I that he friend infinuare himletic into the fenous of her kinimin Pahdalah yawho bigah xon idan biyo mid fered

fleed

steed their loue, so hard bestead. Him therefore he a determined to make one of his complices, mor for bhat her certainty thence expected helpe, neither mem desperately to detect his intimate secrets without somehope, but as the next Merchant, when with the cruell confederacie of the rocke, and furgesragesthe hiplikeroa weake flickler, hauing all hisplanekribs rent and riven aftitider committeen his wearled body to the controy of a floring boord! as the fouldier who being hemmed in on energe fide, with his chimies rankes, neither frands amazed with feare, yeelding his bared brefts to the merel leffe laudline, or desperarely rusheth against the point of the Pike, which is not fortinide but for he but to performe natures intinctions; gathe-Himselfe wifely within his weapons, and firideth with courage to acquite himfelf valiantly or as the wife Philipian, who forfaketh not his Patient thogh hoe cannot finde any forteraigne medicine for his imfaile; bur ininifrech fuch as meere confectures reach him, leafthe diffeouraged, thould delitier to death his Patient discomforted setters to Enryalus, thinking to proue Pandalus, though not fure to preuaile fent for him, whome speedily comming, he courniously enrenained; and with the feperlivalion endenoured to make him a facorite to his purpole. To whomesthey fat rogither in the partitit, or inmost rooms his house, friend Pandatus out th he for to your currefre inspeed youmming miny request willed mero callyon I am to impart a hande down of downstraponance, in which I multitle defreyour diligence, faith, and fedred et tong fince had I laide thele affaires in your faithfull bosome, butthat I fearce knew yourname, much leffe your nature, which fince the nearest of your kindered, being the dearest of mine acquaintance, the most familiar of your friends, the most friendly of my familiars, have with no smal commendations delivered voto mee, faying also that you deserved to be inscribed in the catalogue of mine acquaintance, I ever fought to joyne handes with you in friendship, which now willingly breaketh foorthinto a flame, and displayeth it selfe vinto your fight and if it shall please you to accept the same, you shall henceforth finde me as foreward to thewemy felfe gratefull, as at this time, I am defirous you should gratifie mee in this action; to these Randalus bowed himselfe, and Engeles proceeded. Since the matter is to be vnfolded betweene friendes, I neede not vie any glozing phrase, flowers of thetorickes or colours of eloquence, thou knowest gentle Pandalus how difficult it is to loue, and how much more difficult not to louis is the iron faultiebecause it cleaneth to the forcible adamat Athencedie because it is drawne by the verme of the loade-Rone? golde in that it cannot withstand the hidden strength of the chryfocoll ? or the rish because it moueth to the ict or amber ? on is flesh and blond to be blamed, because Subject to beautie? No, no, gentle Pardales, It is the Attractive force of flowering beautiful which beweitchest the mifatt, enchaunteth the fenerest, curfeth sobrietie from her Court, and dislodgeth vertue from her Co-stile the conquered must obey by constraint a fer meeto fribe search the streams, is farie, to beare a faile ogainst the winde, frenzie. W berefore exiling all miffruft fromthebouome of mine heart, I will breefly difplay voto theer he whole thrine of my fecrets; then will I unfolde both our enfiring profites, and also the meanes of eschuing our perill. I lone thy couzin Lucresia, neyther is the fault (if any fault bee) to be fathered by me : but by fortune who holdeth the helme or Rearne of all humane life: I was not earst acquainted with your Ladies maners, nor juitiated in the elements of this Countrey Courtelies : I thought that womens eyes had euer beene true embaffadours from their hearts, I tooketheir lookes for their facers, and their glaunces to be tokens of their especialt good will but a las heerein I failed in my Physiognomie: for noting Lucreria often (weerely to fmile on mee, and gathering thereby (as I thought) infallable fignes of her favour towardes my lelfe; and on the other fide, Supposing that I should showe my felfe to bee but of verte colde confirmion in that I could nortone, or of curify disposition, in that I would not lotte; or prooue my felfe an Haggard or fain-hearted foote, to expect any further at a wo-mans handes; whole modeltie reftrayneits her from opening her minde anie other wife then by hereyes onelies wherefore; I more forwarde then formule, first set my Force into the fields, thinking my settle of worthier personage, the mile sound of such a Ladie, and then first thinking my selfe vowoorthie, at least vowoorthie of such a woorthie is not suspecting otherwise then that all was fare on my fide, with the better courage MON

Imarched thither, where I foundes contrarie to expectation; the Garos faft locked, and my pallage gaine faide but a shame inwas on terine, nayie was vaposible to returne, for by dealing with the flame, I had folleared and finged my winges, that I was late enough for hying further inherefore nowe pinying my lelfor who was bath to pictifull for horake, I longhoby all meanes I could by of committee of onto out forme fines in the here flint walks of her heart; whereby in hime I found her so machable, wea, and her intireloute, thining forth in fuchaboundameer hard could not without much diligance & Industry denist how to cover the light therapfinur long was hill lenad, but lo far from being telleved, what nousif thou wouch hatefinous hine helping bands ricwilled decays the fowlast blot thy whole samilians them and both of the couling and swhole schille to the honomble tenewhich my friends dichotigh for the honomble tenewhich my forthe honomble tenewhich my forthe honomble tenewhich my forthe honomble tenewhich my forthe to which the source this country so brade my felt to aliand anchie source this country so brade my felt to aliand anchie source this country so brade my felt to aliand the brade is greatest and most guidawy schiffengest ly dearch lady shopings have in might we aroun the amprellical her image from him branch is the simple from him brade will either his with destroit acceptable ions the three will either his with standard for the metallic problem of her distributions the free distribution that he will either his with standard for the metallic patients of the metallic pull freed from the this factors with the forther than contribution freed from the while factors are the manufactors and freed from the standard for the factors and the contribution of the freed from the standard for the factors and my millian companie to a Taben which love laughter would alway for a coword annie up for laughter laug wold

of Euryalus and Lucreta.

wold grieve at their rinkuph. Therfore the contract dalso) we both commit to thee the reines of our coach, hoping thou will with as great speed as the time will permit i and with as good freedeas wee both expect, guide vs to the hight of ourdefires; what prejudice, can abife, for that I only once enter comons with Wenelaw, especially when his eies fee nalight whereat it might grieve, norany perceive wherat thei may grudge: which don; we that begins to loue with reason, who now are led with rage, & after our heavis mitigated, call our feluesto accours and counsel how we may break off our intercepted: confection know thow our willies may been copaffed how bur wils may be accoptifhed a thouland acquainted with the roomes & ledgings of houses thou canft procureme accellewithout infinityand regreffe without danger: finally, thou are not ignos rantwhen her husband is ablent, & by what fleight wee may dehale his brothen is clonembens futbilities who like an officious initory colector atrenery look of hers to licalign of light peffelthis cannot be done without thy help & cannot be left without without durandoing mow what profit may herby proceed, whatdiscomodity you shall prevent, lappeald to no dthet juligenhens of thine own differentian: for theires by thou that preferred by houses carred decinitione thy steemall briends like pel had after allowing with the retained Morel Asolnis lotting wife, and your milities find my friendship a vaid & wifrithfill commelies releastion of any hondurable office a came gorbition contraggile sudiinconsol sangon hareshourbefoll-s lend, affuring thy felf whiles I am Cafars right hand, the Con-linger of that hande in Scepter of this world, I can and wit establish thee in the fame sin the meantime, I will create thee countie Paleine, with which nobletitlethy felfe shalbe gratified and thine whole posteritie after thee graced. Be not mercileffe, good Pandalas, because I entreate thee, hor lanspittie because I pray thee : I have committed to theemy body, which is my felf, and Lucrefia who is my foule, viethem faithfullie, who doubted not roconceiue of thee friendly: let it fuffice that thou couldeft as wel humas helpe:kill as cure: as well finckeas faue vs. Herevpon Pandalu sometyhile deliberating, and in deliberation making faire weather in his face, which betokened the like to beside Emyder in his love. And although Emplie (quochlie) as you presend the iron naturally cleaneth to the forceable Adamant, and nature cannot be exanthorated, yet the Adamant leefeth his power, when the iron is first ribbed over with the Sideritie though the needle bee drawne vnio the dioad frome year the operation of the Loadfrone is annihilated by opposition of the more verteous Themeder the Chryfacell being steeped in loyce of Garlicke leefeth his effect: the lecennot prevaile guntine rith; valette your telfe volumentie lend ceble a volt coint for the continuate field is not for ayou paint it forth, miellevermetheprince and threfig he made flatifit, inbight to the bafe after feel to an how can beautic beare fly any, if you rule your barke withis Rudder? If you we this excellent giftes a prefer unite test in your pocket, or a Romander in your bolome without applying the limit in gift and a 2 ma I salid with your grindle the elie one, or chaling the other ethen is not vertue in the fault; but the blame to be laid on your own follie: forwhereforedo you weare a Lawrell branch, and yet are corched with lightning ? to what end do you beare the hooke; and yet luffer the minde to be outergrownewith dilordinate weedes? what audileth it to carry the androdamant shield of Pallas, if not able to thunne the dartes of Venus ? But it is too late to crie stand, to him that lyeth in the dirt: to wish his present returne, who hath nevely committed his Sayles to the mercy of the winde : to teach him to knowe an Bele, who is alreadiebitten with a Snake: for in such cases we nought require how it happened, but how the hap may be bealed. Know therefore worthie Euryalm, how farrethis request is from newes, to Pundalus, which often Lucrefurecited vnto fnee, loading mine eares with lamentations, redoubling blowes on her naked breafts, increating me either to take away her life, or elfeto make way for her lone: I relifted, not moued with her petitions, which I confured with perivations, and would have confounded them with threates, had I not seene her desperate resolution to be such, that the would rather bricher her owne bodie, then renounce Euryalus: how often being drowned in deep remembrance of your felle, thechach catted opponthe name of Burgalus, and cipying more perceive ky ouereast her fifty cheekes with a crimion veiled But alas how hath discontent altered her countenance? how hath greefe imparred her beautie? how hathwallt reares left their -flailed pathes wherethey eartheretiled downe, on what edecidowning foring of their live ere face? Ah Lucrefia, Lucrefia, (and therewith hee shaking his head, fresh teares brake foorth their way) : who euer fawe a greater chaunge, (quoth hee) a more greenous chaunce? Lucrefia I tay, in whole perfon verme marched arme in arme with beautie, hath blemished her outward blaze, with an inward blot & Lucrefia who was chafte because shee was wife, and wife in that thee was chafte, hath bleared the eye of her minde with foule affection : and certes the blinde cannot walke vpright: finally, Lucrefis furpaising her fexe as the Sunne doth all other Planets, being beautie it felfe, is, Nareiffus-like intangled with the image of beautie: for you also noble Euryalus are passing faire, excelling men as farreas the Moone doth any Starre, to our fight, and therefore I the leffe maruaile that frich an ecliple should appeare in our sunne, when such a moone was oppolite to the fame: but now fince a daungerous sore requirerb an undaunted physitian, I heere excellent Euryalus, gird my selfe to the vndertaking of this feruice, and purpoferogine you morice of Menelaus his next ablence, : not because I expect your promise, that you will regarde me as your fellow, and reward mee with fuch a fee: but that I might preserve our whole stocke from black-mouthed infamie, whome onely it deligh-Hesh with her brazen trumper to founde the has the sunce of our formedefame; and yet in partification pleasure you, not fedde with greedinesse of such great prefents as you suppole. No, no, faid Emya-Luti lifethe not to hun theowith abribe, for I shall alwaics bane great cause alwaics to be gratefull vitto thee inclwithstanding this what I will gratific sads of a Lucroffe, (and therewith hee thaking his

of Eurgains and Lucrema.

shee with so woorthie a title : which I hope you will not despile a Despile it aunswered Pandalus, hee were a for that would refule to faire a fish floating into his net but I abhorre rewardes on fo badde a condition : I hope for nothing, but if aught comes by happe, I will not account it as guerdon, but gaine grea, I with whiles you were ignoraum, that I could thus have proceeded, and pleasured you. This being saide, Pundalus tooke his leave, promiting that Euryalus thould heare from him ere long; bee mindfull then good Pandalas, quoth Emyalus, for I long to heare from thees I will defense commendations, quoth lice, and then departed. Not long after there grew a quarreliberweene Menelans his Hindes and Farmers, in the Countrey : who no fooner inspired with the dilline furie of horned Bacsbas, buvin buckling and builting togither, some with the por-gun, wherewish themselves were not drie-beaten, dealt about their blowes,; others with the double can fmore their Aduerfaries to the grounde; the reft, with the hand-bell rang the knell of their dying fellowes, on their enemies pares a forthat many were murihered, more maymed, wherefore wenelans must preferitly poaste to decide the discorde betwist the rude rout. To whome thus spake ing light, to make her looke formewhat moralismin dieman; and bener it were that you had an ambling Courfer for your felfe, fince all your owner god most wreafter. You say well auniwered her subbande introduce of ponoson shub and on, all 2 and a incode are

ATTOTERUSTED LOUISTED

it at this instance, and yet harder to borrowe it; for where is any fuch to be required ? pr who will lend his Courfer than loues is I Randulas forshwish fetting foote on the stage, said that his familiar frend Euryalas had'a passing one, for his purpole: which to pleasure Menelans, he would willingly borrow: yea, and fo thall you buy me allo quothe Menelaus, thankfittly accepting of Bardalus his proffered ferwice: Pandalas fordiwish fearched foorth Euryalus, and detified him of the long expected newes, appointing Eurylais to bee prefent before Licrefine window at ten bethe clocke in the night, all which time, if hed heard Pandalas fing , hee thould take it asa figure of frecesse; in the meane time, Euryalis delinering his Courfee; thus laughed in his fleene. And is intrue Menelassimustyou indeed beliride my Horfe hivell, Hebelaboldeasto in invontibidie. suffered on spates mouthe, fouries and three hothing formuch asthanightsbeginning, Bafore his tonenies andeld Euryalus praied especially for his ende to the day, that he might begin his careere : attength the heavierenting sheavit forthe deplante of beautifulli Phalius, begantopin on henlable attiney and mourning like to fix her faddelt fade on the forrowfull earth; her face klay, yer blacke and forrowfull, though the golden flars, labored with their winckling light, to make her looke somewhat moretimely: when Edryalus accompanied with his trustic Achates; came flaggering to the honfe of cathernemple of his goddelle, where they might werie well faytheir praiers at the doore, for any passage or hos-pitalitie they could procure a and belike Emploi was bound to the peace, for he durit not once so

O LE NITY BLANG AND LARGE muchas fmiteshedoor, although he had owed him an old grudge. Thus he floode hearkening when Pandaluswould beginto fing, but hee therewhile was faine to daunce for colde. Often heeblew his blewish nailes, and yet his entertainment was colder then his coldeft felfe. By this time the appointed house had long linee given the the lip, whe Wife began frendly to flour Euryalus, and fure (quoth he) this geare cottens as if it were a canuaffe; tis for pure loue I dare sweares that the doores remaine shutagainst vs, the doore loves the threshold, I mean, for that is the matter certainly you may do wel to give your mistressea pattern of your patience, as for me I will be packing. Euryalas to whom it was death fo to depart, was chiefly imploied in making loitering pinnet, finding an hundred excuses to cause delay, and as many perswassons to detaine. Wish his companie. Pandalus alichis while durft not fing, because Agamenmon, brother to Mendaus; like a wife rules, first searched that all was safe and sure within other was circumspect against huward imaffons, and thereforemade but first hafte to take uphis lodging, Towhom thus Pundalus : fie, fie, fhallwenor goeto bed this night?! what meanes this Agament non l'Iam as sleepie as à dogge : I pray thee yet at last leavs refresh our wearied & weakned bodies with moderate fleepe, & not deprine nature of her fweet tribute: Content (quoth Agamennion) but first let vis haue an electothe gates, for if they are fure, we may fleepescure: then comming to the gare's , feeling euerie locke, now adding herea bolt, cherea barrel neverthought all well til himfelfe was wearier and then france defined, vntill decided by Pandalis for his fo much curiofitie: long fince (quoth he) thefe Gates were firme against theeues, but never will bee forceable to exclude the Florentines our foes, whom we need not feare. This being faid, Agamemnon condificended, and both prepared to fleepe, but Enryalmignorant what was don, requested vnwilling Najarolend him a linle more respite, saying, that if he presently could not speed, he would speedily depart. Nife wished Enrialman hard peniworth, for injoining him fo hard a penaltie, fo much against his stomach But long after this they had not remained, when they might espicehebeames of a candle breaking through a chink of a moltred wall, when Euryalus peeping; perceived Lucrefia litting very solitarie, with her folding armes embracing each other, whom after he had named; and delinered his watchworde: who; mine Engular (woth the Lahlwered, he. lam here; iculy intituled shine Buryalus, fince I'am altogither thine: open, open vnto me, my five endearling, for I not fo much loathed to waite thus long, as aldhiged to enjoy thy beloried companie. Lacrefie different pace approached to the Gare, enderioring to whole the barres, which indeed were too heavie to be removed by a weake womans arme; notwithstanding the opened them only for the space of halfa foot, which Euryalus seeing delire making him accour nothing vnpossible; first with his right stender side; & colequently with his whole body, entred the house: where imbracing her, as he thought to have imprinted his heart in her forced lips, the fell into a found : fo did the extremity of either fudden io y or fildden feare examiniare hor, the blood matirally rothing from her paich faces

the excellent blistorie

OF ESSENTATIONS ASSURE

to comfort the passionate hart, the trembling whites of hereyes, scarce appearing through their almost closed thrines, fo that thee feemed rather a fentleffe corfe, then aliuely corps: but onely the pulles as messengers, and vitall heate remaining, and yet retaining her course, gave evidence that life had not yet left the due possession of her field. Euryalus hereat would have lost his wittes, in the laborinth of perplexities, had not the fting of greefe recalled and reclaimed his fleeting and fugative spirits. Alas, if I shoulde flie (quoth hee) I were guiltie of her death, for leaving her destitute in fuch daunger. If I remaine, Agamemnon, or some other fernaunt may take me, and from me my life. Ovnformnateloue, which minglest my suger with falt, my sirruppe with Aloes, my gladnesse with griefes? thou gineft mea Nofegay of Nettles, hid amongest a fewe Roses: shewest me a faire picture, drawne with infectious paint: offerest to kisse me, and in kissing to stabbe mee: into how many danngers haft thou drawne mee? Into howe manie deathes haft thou driven mee? With howe manie blowes haft thou hittemy forrowfull heade? What plague now remained for thee to exercise on mine unfortunate selfe, but this the worst and wofulleft, to murther a ladie in mine armes? why hadft thou not rather tried thy crueltie, and tired thy felfe with tyrannie; first on Euryalus? why haddest thou not first butchered my bodie, and stanched thy thirst with my blood? happiehad I died laying mine head in henlap, then living to have held herdying in my bolomershis faide, hee being overcome with pitie, and kindenelle, call away all care of his owne die, often kilsing her; and often watering the garden (sometimes taire garden, fairely decked with freshelt flower) of her face with dewe from his di-Rillant eies: ah Lucrefia (quoth he) whereart thou? why hearest thousand for hearing, why answerest thou not? open thinceies, and fee thine Euryalus, and feeing finile on him, and finiling as thou art woont, killehim: it is thine Euryalus, who is prefent with thee, speaketh to thee, and killeth thee: alas, and are thou dead mine heart? foone shall my fworde make passage for my foule, that it might meete thee againe in the faire Blyfian fields: ah my life, my delight, bleffed hope, my dearest ioy, shall Holeefe thee? yet vnfold those beautifull Carbuncles of thine cies, yet heave vp thine heade, at least bid meadew il see thou are not yet departed, thou yet retainest vitaliheare, thou yet breathest, thine heart yet besteth: O Lucresia leave not thy loue in fo lamentable diffresse: are these the ioles to which thou biddeft me? these the delights to which shou bringest me? these the pleasures to which thou intriteft me? is this the night which thou affoordeft melah blackeft night, fit witneffe of my woes, becaule best resembling my forowes therwith fixing his eies on Lucresias face, he rained forth teares in fuch abundance, that they washing their temples, somewhat pearced and quickned the surprised fenles: whereby weakely flarting vp, and garifhly fla-ring about, especially on the face of Euryalas, ah where have I beene (quoth thee?) why didft hot not rather laffer me quietly to depart? bleffed had I died in thine embracings Eurialas, and happie to of Euryalus and Lucretta.

have breached forth my fout intothy mouth: but now, ah now must I live to be lest of thee, and now must I dieforbeing left of thee. But within a while, sheebeing appealed, both pleased, they entered their Bedchamber, and having laid afide their apparell (as some men vietodoe their friendes) vintill they had neede so we themagaine, they repoted their daintie bodies, in the prepared bedde a in which bed it might feeme, that Cupid had taken vp:his lodging , and yer not to reft : he came naked; and without all armour, and yet not without his dart : hee was her Mars, Paris, Ganymedes: hehis Venns, Helena, Polizina, Aemilia: nowe bee praifed her faire greateyes, commended her foft cheekes, her full welling pappes, and yer nor fatiffied with delight, that hee imight drench himselfe in the full Channell of pleasure, hee often lifted uppe the sheete, to make the sense of his sight, partaker of those joyes which his feeling had before possessed. And what disafter (sayde hee) so desperare, that coulde deterre mee from venturing for fuch a conquell? Noweis my formme in the pride of her effare, nowe am I placed in the height of felicitie ; nowe am I fested on the Throne of happineffe. Butalas, whiedoorb the enuious houre flie away fo falt ? Why dooth the winged night fohaffily fleete? Who doth A pello gather his flarmed Sreedes fo foone to their daily labour ? Gine mee a night fuch as thou diddeft to Hercules, and Alcmena ! certes if aged Tuhon, were as much delighted with the companie of Aurora, as I with Lacrefia, he would longer detaine her in her waterie couch : neither was Lucrefia all this while filent, whorepaid him his own both in word and action: by this time the blackst night had his ierry beard changed

The oxideral allisone

Scepter to a better sudcessor wherefore though detained with the lone he bore to his ladie, yet forced with seare of both their ensuing infamies; he tooke his fainting farewell. After this spiteful oportunitie long time hid het head, as grudging anie more to procure there Louers good. Lucresias spies daily encreased, whome often (Idna lending differtion, to workethe meane) giving both will and skill to execute it, shedid delight cumingly to delude. Not long after, Casar determined to visite Rome, which thing fortowfull Lucreasia perceiving, (for what cannot loves blind pearcing eies perceive) by the hand of sosia, with this copie of her hearts ingraved thoughts, she presented Euryalus;

My foule who ever ent endeuored to require your deferm, in this one thing denieth to returne your due. Vakindnesse I meand, for your discourteste: I fee Faith her felfe blufh because wronged by you, being indused for witheffee that you made mee a leafe of your felfe, for tearme of life. And yer will Ennalm leave Lacrefia Cefar departeth; and for his fake Euryalus forlaketh mee: But why didden thou conceale from me this countaile? Either because thou wen ashamed to acknowledge it, or elfe deemedit mee not worthie ro knoweit? What milchiefe may befall me, by thine ablence & and yet indeede, what mildrie may more befall me, then fallen into the bottome of mileries ! ah fillie woman, how shall I denile to prolong my life? and yet in learning this, I shall but learne to prolong my paine? But say. Euryalia, white wilt mon bequenth mee to untimely death? because Ilonethee? It is the authour of my death? not the accident that displeaseth mee! Yet sweete Employ by my reared es by thy faith plighted, as thou laidest from thine volaining heart, and by thy right hand, the pledge of the lame, I delire, if ought I have deferred of thee, or if ever I feemed pretious in thy fight, ponder my lamentable cause, in pondering pitie me, and through pitie preserue me: I require not that thou wouldst not leauethis Citie, but that thou wouldest leade me with thee. It needs no great force to carry away fuch as are willing, or rather minged to flie. For performing the which complot, to morrow in the enening, under pretence of viliting our Ladies Chappell, I am determined to walke abroad, accompanied onely wirh mine aged nurle, betraying my selfe into servants handes, who being placed there for the fame purpole, may violentlie transport me to any place which thou thalt appoint them, It is inhumanitie Euryalus, to reiest the bird which fleeth into thy bosome. Neither's it so foule an offence to take mee with thee, fince the beautifull sonne of the Phrygian Priamus, hath alreadie drawne theea patterne of the same prancke: Lastlie, thou shalt not herein injurie my husbande, who otherwise cannot enion me, because thy leavings, are deathes leasings, Succourmeetherefore, thrile sweete Euryalus, sith in thy power lieth the bronde of my life, which whilest thou proceedest to burne, perisherh; whilest thou preparelt to quench, is preferred. To thele Eurya-I imparted not the knowledge of my speedic

I imparted not the knowledge of my speedic departure vnto thee, lonely Emercia, least thou shouldest more macerate thy selfe in fearing a shaddowe, then indeede bee miscrable in feeling the substaunce. I know that thy soft gentle heart sooner woulde hearken to the perswation of sorrows, then bee hardened against entertaining so unprofitable a guest; the Philitian often concealeth his patients death, leaft it should breede his discomfort; and should I forewarne thee to feare vneuitable blowe, which is like to profite but a Blaft! especiallie when the expectation hereof thall more girde thee, then the accident it felfe is like to greene thee. I weighed thy cause, and yer finde no luck cause why I should so bewaile thy cale? Cefar not le departeth, as purpoled neuer againe to repaire hither; neither though I goe from thee, doe I determine to forgoe thee : creet thy thought, and let heattenlie Nepenthes be thy prefernative against heatineffe. Our parting will not bee fo greeuous, as our meeting gratefull; buttouching thy rape, howe iovfull and delectable would tubee for me to obtaine thy lweete pollession without dread, and to retaine it without dager?what folace to be accepted?what pleafure to be preferred, before this choice? at all times to be partaker of thy bleffed companie? freely to view thee, and without feare to embrace thee? were it not that thy firme loyaltie, and faithfull loue, wherewith thou first received it me, after receit, heldest me, and in pollesio helpelt me, claimed as her due, & challenged s'debr, that I fhould prefer thine honor before mine humour fauourthy fame, before I follow my fancie; first feeketo preserve thy dignitie, and with that which istefeto feitie my delight : certes Lucrefia, by howe much thy pacents are noble; by fo much is thy perfonage notable. It is not Herraria here, or Italy, it is not Almania, Hangaria, or Polonia, that with their bourds can include the bright thining beames of thy beautie: further nations have heard commendations of thy name, thy british golden wings hath armed amongst the farther welcounter. I neither reck, or recken mine own lite burthen for thy lake: what infamy would obscure thy praise, discredicthy parents, dishonorthine whole progenie ? Trust methy fall would be the greater , by how much thy fame is exceeding glorious a what is it for one to build him a loftee neaft, whence with greater defame bee may breake his necke ? A flaine in whiteft cloth is most confpicuous to the eye; amaime in the faire face standes fulleft to the fight, the fairest marke, fairest to the (haft : the eclipse in the Summe is (oonest espied, and the worthieft, if worthie to be blamed, are foonest and forest blemished. Hitherto with fo fure a curtaine, have we covered our escapes, that the most captious and carptious head, cannot faften histeeth on any scandall, the greatest and granest fort commend thee, but this rape what croffe barres would it drawe in the colours of thy life? how wouldestribou blush? how would mine hart bleed to heare this the peoples report? Behold Lucresia, who for her chastitie was lately renowned more then the wife of Collatinus, or Penelope, hath nowe at last renounced modestie, yea more outragious then either Hippia, or Medea, leaving pheere and friendes, kindred, and Countrey, thee followeth a straggling straunger. Moreover, should wee buy this pleasure at so high a price, yet coulde we not drinke at the fountaines head of delightes : For Cefar who hath aduaunced my gentle estate, to this honourable condition, wherein I now live, who hath bene more grations then I can recompence with gratefulnelle; more liberall and bountifull in rewarding, then lof abilitie in deserning : Well may challenge my seruice, yearny felfe: my nobilitie, like the luie wreatheth it felfe aboute the piller of his power & My dignitie, tyke the Vine on the Elme, flourisheth befurtained by his fauour. Him if I abandon, my chare cannot bide: it khould carry thee with mee, bere hibourfone and louthformed toyle, and travaile, woulded thou find hit there is no reft or respit for daily moung our camp, and yet there shoulded thou for the most part, be conversant but amongst rude ruffians and rafeals; rather like a publike currezan, then an ingenious matrone; and what fouler eproach would hence stife to vs both, I commit it to thine owne conideration: for these causes, and fundry other inconne-numbers. I request these excellent Lucresia, to conquere thy flattering conceit; and to guide thy will according to thy welfare, and think not thy welfare to be well guided by thy will. An other Louer perhaps to the ende he might abute thee whome hee had leduced, and for lake thee whom he had abuiled, would entice thee of his owne accord to flie, but that were rather the part of a light of loue, to farisfie his owne luft, then with preferring thine honour, to recompence thy kindnesse : imbrace therefore my counsel louing Lucrefia, which counsell best consoneth with thy welfare: remaine I pray thee, and I will speedily procure to my selfethe regiment of this province to the end I may forthwith return. Farewell, fine happily, and lone fledfaltly, supposing mine affection to be of no lesse force then thincowne; and in the performance of his counsell. As for Eight , hee had no some as much affection, as to this departure breeded to me as much affection, as to this covere impatient selfer again facewell and times farewell.

On this perforation and promise of Euryalus, Early adjacent forth the anterof her resolution, signifying by letters, that the serepted of his counsell. As for Eight, hee had no some arrived at Rome, but in that can hybridge of his he sufficied an earth quake: to the which ague was less only the religions of principles which ague was less only the religions of principles in the value of the last ague was less only the religions of principles in the value of the last ague was less only the religions of his page.

could admit no comfort, though hee were both ice ded, indicandred, with morethen fatherly care by for in mill at length, receiving accertificate of Lucreita perfect health, he as the Sunne peeping out of a millie and drowfie cloude, cladding himfelfe in his braueft and costlict futes, rode backe againe to Senes: their foiourning for the space of soure dayes, at which time, feeing all passages debaired, he againe gaue her notice of his departure : but alasse howe it grated and galled their bleeding hearts, to give and take that faft and famentable, finall and farall farewell? neuer wastheir meeting for fauced with minth, as this their parting fourced with moune; never the joyning of their hearts fo cloyed with happinefley as this dilloynting of their foules was clogged with heatineffer there might you hatte leen ethe anatomy of forrow figured in Lacrefias face, whiles from her lodging window, free beheld that montroful spectacle, Euryalus passing through the freet, making his watery eyes mellengers to her of his afflighed breft; both of them were nigh strangled with bluffring stormes of anguish, wherewith reason was long fince shipwracked they onely can best cast their pittifull paines, who have alreadire caped the hard affaults of deaths fiege, when the foule was almost haled from the bolom of her beloued, by whom the was long imbraced, and louingly entertained. Except that here the paine was more permanent, when two hearts growne into one were fo milerably racked & rent fro their (weet conjunction, neither in leperation caled, as the bodie having loft the foule, but in diffunction and inprecontined & formested. Lasdamia could live after the death of Protefelaus: Didoafter the depart ture of Aenaas: Porticafter the decease of Brutus: and ine licken rah was pendily railed and retitled by head and invole granding near gooleg in her bed where having nateat walle call her mountally count about the A all the power of the world to wi efter; in length lines was the boy mentiall barry (like varipe francabiding many plac-ings before it fall) the frinting with often plunges, in er laft & lated gaipe gaue vp the ghoaft. Eury due folour muller of the varieties of the lowed cate daily, and Exercise followed him nightly in his beamest but in time receiving manifely tidings of headean, and therefore puring on mourning apparelt; his curtical fable cloubing councreting his inward discontents he gave himself course to grief, loading all company and concentrate of company, variles. stanguisting disease, coupled him in not redamped with whom he spent relieue of his life, rothe full period there & illis bulleing floring of anguilly subgroup energy of the Int In S. I array mich somil smo

